Funeral Services in Memory of the Late Justice Matthews.

VIEWS OF COPPORAL TANNER

Courtmartial of Major Lydecker—The Washington Centennial—Acceptance of the New Cruiser Yorktown—Notes

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The funeral services over the remains of the late associate justice Stanley Matthews were held this afternoon at his late residence, Dr. Hamlin and Dr. Leonard officiating. The president and cabinet, justices of the supreme court, many members of congress and other prominent persons were present.

The remains were then carried to the Baltimore & Ohio station and conveyed to Glendive, Ohio, for interment in the Spring Grove cemetery.

During the ceremony the face and bust of the deceased were exposed to view and presented a life-like aspect. By the casket were bunches of Easter lilies and a laurel wreath and a large wreath of white roses tied with purple ribbon from Justice and Mrs. Field. The piano in the room was covered with offerings from friends, the principal one being a massive pile of white roses from President and Mrs. Harrison.

Among the earliest arrivals were members of the supreme court, who had seats in the apartments where the bier stood. Here, also, were the presidential party, General Harrison entering with Mrs. Blaine, followed by Secretary Blaine with Mrs. McKee. The attendance of public personages and personal friends was unusually large. Among the latter was R. R. Cooner, of the University of Indiana, who was chaplain in Colonel Matthews's regiment during the war. The services were conducted by Rev. T. S. Hamlin of the church of the Covenant.

The party accompanying the remains to Cincinnati includes Justices Lamar, Blatchford, Gray and Harlan.

CORPORAL TANNER'S VIEWS.

He Is Anxious to Give Pensions to All Ex-Soldiers Who Are in Need

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Corporal Tanner says in regard to the pensions of soldiers of the late war: "I believe in giving every Union soldier, his widow or orphan, who is in need a pension and giving it to him as quickly as possible."

For three months the issue of pensions has been almost suspended. The commissioner directed that daily lists of pensions allowed be no longer published, as he did not want comparisons with the present work of the bureau and that of six, eight and ten months ago, when the soldier vote was being sought.

Representative Cheadle, of Indiana, who knows Corporal Tanner intimately, says of him: "He will give a pension to every one who needs and is entitled to it, providing congress will authorize it and give him the money. He already has very great latitude, and can allow new pensions and increase with almost unlimited liberty."

COURTMARTIAL

Major Lydecker Arraigned on Charges Growing out of the Aqueduct Tunnel

WASHINGTON, March 25.—A courtmartial convened at the war department this morning for the trial of Major Lydecker. The charges arose out of the failure of the aqueduct tunnel.

The proceedings opened with the reading of the order convening the court and charging an act of dereliction of duty to the prejudice of good order and discipline, which is supported by six specifications, which set out the faulty work in the tunnel and the failure of the defendant to exercise care in its superintendence.

After the specifications had been read, Major Lydecker pleaded not guilty. He denied all responsibility for the character of the work while admitting that it was defective in several particulars.

Then followed the contracts, orders and other papers connected with the tunnel work, after which Lieutenant Townsend testified that he had discovered a number of pieces of bad work and in one case where forty feet of dry packing and cavities were found. The sub-inspector had been discharged and a change made in the force of men. Major Lydecker examined the reports and went through the tunnel several times with witness when he first reported and afterwards. These visits were two months apart. About $100,000 would be required to line the tunnel. Adjourned.

THE WASHINGTON CENTENNIAL

Much Dissatisfaction Expressed Concerning the Naval Officer Selected for the Occasion

WASHINGTON, March 25.—No little dissatisfaction is felt among naval officers over the details of the programme for the celebration of the Washington inaugural centennial next month.

According to the programme the army and navy are to figure prominently in the demonstration.

Major General Scofield, the highest commanding general of the service, has been selected to take charge of the military forces, and against that selection no criticism is made. But the naval officers complain that their branch of the service, which will make the exhibition of particular interest because of the comparison of the old and new navy, has been placed in charge of a retired officer.

They argue that a naval officer of the highest rank should have been chosen to match the selection of Major General Scofield, and they have begun an agitation to have Admiral Jouett replace the retired officer in command of the naval demonstration.

THE NEW CRUISER YORKTOWN

The Secretary of the Navy Accepts the Report of the Trial Board

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The secretary of the navy has approved the report of the trial board of the Yorktown, and the vessel, including her fittings and machinery, excepting the electric light plant, will be accepted, subject to a special reserve of $20,000 and to a further reservation of $5000 to be held until the lighting plant shall be completed and tested.

Cramp & Sons are required, when the vessel leaves the yard, to place on board all of the duplicate pieces and other articles belonging to the vessel, and at as early a day as practicable to deliver her to the commander at the League Island navy yard, when she will be formally accepted subject to the above-mentioned conditions.

FOR THE MILITARY SCHOOLS

Regulations Governing the Issue of Arms and Ammunition.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The secretary of war has prescribed the regulations governing the issue of arms for military instruction at the colleges. Each college or university where an army officer is stationed will be allowed two three-inch rifled guns of wrought iron valued at $450 each, two carriages and timbers and appurtenances, 150 Springfield cadet rifles, and a corresponding number of bayonet scabbards and appendages. The colleges are required to give bonds equal to double the value of the arms furnished.

Ammunition will be supplied as follows: One hundred blank cartridges and 800 primers for the three-inch guns and fifty rifle ball cartridges for each cadet engaged in target practice.

OFFENSIVE PARTISANSHIP.

Wanamaker Boldly Asserts That It is Not a Sufficient Cause for Removal

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The postmaster general has thus far refused to say anything for publication on the subject of offensive partisanship as a cause of removal of postmasters, but the Star to-night says: "On Saturday Wanamaker made a positive announcement to an unnamed member of congress who had a very offensive partisan postmaster he was working to have removed, that the charge of offensive partisanship would not be regarded as a sufficient cause for removal. Some other good reason would have to be given and it did not matter whether or not this charge was attached."

In Favor of a New Executive Mansion

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Public sentiment has again been aroused in favor of a new executive mansion, owing to the recent illness of Mrs. Harrison, which it is said has been caused by the unhealthfulness and inadequacy of the White house. It has miserable plumbing, and sewer gas can be detected on a sultry or foggy day in any part of the building. The house is too small. There are but five bedrooms in it, and when the president and his wife have a few relatives visiting them, as at present, they are crowded.

Ward to Play With the Washingtons.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The Post to-morrow will say: John Montgomery Ward will play in the Washington team next season. The question is settled beyond all dispute, and only requires Ward's signature to the contract to complete it. This will be given within a few days.

Windrim Accepts His Appointment.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—James H. Windrim, the newly appointed supervising architect of the treasury, has informed Secretary Windom of his acceptance of the appointment and of his purpose to assume the duties of the office on Wednesday.

Through Pullman sleepers and dining cars, also second-class sleepers through to the East via Northern Pacific Railroad. Office, No. 121 First St., corner Washington.

A REVULSION OF SENTIMENT

Episcopalians Aroused by the Exclusiveness of the St. Thomas Church

NEW YORK, March 25.—The exclusion of strangers from the pews of the St. Thomas Episcopal church has created a revulsion of sentiment among Episcopalians against conducting the church on a commercial basis. A circular emanating from the association for the advancement of the interests of labor, presided over by Bishop Huntington, was distributed yesterday at many of the Episcopal churches, pointing out the dangers likely to result to religion from the present high pew rent system.

The circular states that commercial forces are pushing their way into every church, and that a man poverty-stricken in spirit, [illegible], but rich commercially, is preferred as a church officer to a man poor in worldly goods, though rich in spiritual possessions.

The present system of pew renting is next assailed. "The rich and impious," says the circular, "occupy the choice places while the poor and destitute are relegated to obscure corners and sometimes even denied admission. The door by which this anti-Christ movement has gained official entrance is the pew renting system."

A TRAGIC SEQUEL.

A Double Tragedy the Result of the Factional Feud in Kentucky

PINEVILLE, Ky., March 25.—The arrest of [illegible] and others implicated in the feud that within the past few months has caused over a dozen deaths had a sequel this morning in a double tragedy two miles from town on the Cumberland Gap road. Alvis Turner and Jeff King were going toward the gap and James Burch was coming to town. The meeting was celebrated by Alvis Turner firing at Burch, the ball only striking Burch's gun. Burch returned the fire promptly, killing Turner, and then King fired on Burch, killing him, and then beating a hasty retreat up the creek. Turner was the leader of the anti-Sowders faction.

In Favor of the Municipal Authorities

INDIANAPOLIS, March 25.—The state legislature passed a bill placing the fire and police departments of this city under control of a board of commissioners selected by the legislature. The bill has placed the streets, alleys, lighting, water supply, etc., in the hands of a board of public works and affairs selected in a similar manner.

When these boards sought to enter upon their duties the old board of metropolitan police commissioners and municipal authorities declined to surrender their power, holding that the laws under which the legislative appointees were to act were unconstitutional.

The case was heard in the supreme court of this county to-day, and a decision was rendered sustaining the metropolitan commissioners and municipal authorities. Judge Taylor ruled in favor of the new appointees and Judges Howe and Walker in the opposition. The case will now be taken to the supreme court.

Prince Wilkes Brings $30,000

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—Word was received here this afternoon that the famous horse Prince Wilkes, owned by George A. Singerty, of this city, was sold in New York to-day for $30,000.

The horse reached New York this morning, where he was delivered to J. R. Hubbard, who represents a wealthy gentleman living in Buenos Ayres. Singerly was on hand, and when the horse was turned over to the representative of his owner, he received a check for $30,000. Hubbard has been for some time looking for a suitable animal to send to South America, and fixed on Prince Wilkes as a horse answering the requirements.

A Heavy Defalcation.

DETROIT, March 25.—A Hancock, Michigan, special says: Experts sent here by the Standard Oil Company have been at work upon the books of Martin K. Goldsworthy, manager of the company for the Lake Superior region, and have discovered a shortage in his accounts to the amount of $10,000 or more. Goldsworthy became frightened last Wednesday and has gone to Toronto. For the past two years he has been dabbling in mining stocks and the recent heavy decline carried him under. His bondsmen are liable to the extent of many thousand.

A Six Weeks Suspension

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—A special to the Press says that an announcement was posted to-day at all the collieries in the Pittston region, including those of the Pennsylvania Coal Company and the small companies and individual operators, notifying the men of a suspension of six weeks duration. This will be a terrible blow to the men, who for months have been on very short time and are now in a very poor condition. About 10,000 men and boys are affected by this suspension.

Around the World

NEW YORK, March 25.—The schooner yacht Coronet is expected to arrive here in a day or two from her tour around the world. The yacht left March —, 1888, for San Diego, California, where her owner, C. T. Bush, of Brooklyn, was rusticating.

Arriving at San Diego Mr. Bush started on a trip across the Pacific to China. Thence they went to Calcutta and through the Suez canal to Malta, whence they left for home.

A Prize Fight Interdicted.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 25.—Chief of Police Brackett has notified President Loomis, of the De Soto club, that the Needham-Gilmore fight for to-night at that club house must not come off. Warrants for the arrest of the principals have been sworn out and are now in the hands of the police.

Owing to the police interference the fight has been postponed. It will occur, however, between this date and Saturday in this vicinity.

On the Trail of the Train Robbers

HOLBROOK, A., March 25.—Deputy Sheriff Larson and posse are still in pursuit of the train robbers. They first went toward Tonto Basin, thence turned and went toward Utah, crossing the Atlantic and Pacific road within ten miles of the scene of the robbery. On the trail many express articles were found, partly consumed or burning. The officers have now gone to Utah by rail to head the robbers off.

Plum Orchards Being Destroyed

DAYTON, O., March 25.—Horticulturists who have returned from Ross county report that a disease known as black knot is destroying the blue plum orchards in that vicinity, and that the growers of Damson and Shropshire plums have already cut down 50,000 dead trees and burned them.

The peach and red plum trees are about ready to bloom.

Killed His Paramour's Husband

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 25.—Near Mount Vernon, Kentucky, Saturday, James Baker shot and mortally wounded Moses Gatliff. Gatliff's wife had run away with another man. Gatliff pursued and recaptured her. At the depot where they were to take the train he began beating her. Baker remonstrated and Gatliff shot at him. Baker then shot Gatliff, wounding him fatally, and then surrendered to the sheriff.

A Brutal Slugging Match

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, March 25.—A brutal prize fight took place in West Virginia, opposite this city, early this morning between Shaffer and William Baxter. They fought thirteen rounds, punishing each other severely. In the last round Baxter was knocked senseless and failed to respond when time was called. About seventy persons witnessed the mill.

Gaudaur Accepts the Challenge

BOSTON, March 25.—This afternoon St. John, the backer of Gaudaur, telegraphed Teemer that Gaudaur accepted his challenge to row a series of races for $500 a side for each race, provided Teemer made the distance, two, three and four miles, Gaudaur to name the first course, Teemer the second, and a toss for the choice of the third.

Eight Tramps Flogged

LINCOLN, Neb., March 25.—Eight tramps were publicly flogged on their bare backs in Fairburg last Saturday afternoon, for their impudent and boisterous conduct. The flogging was done by a citizens committee, who led the pedestrians to the edge of the city and advised them to keep without the limits in the future.

A Large Seizure of Oleomargarine.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 25.—The internal revenue collector to-day seized 11,000 pounds of oleomargarine at the factory of Nu bau & Co., of this city. The seizure was made by order of the Washington authorities, and neither the collector nor the firm understand the nature of the charges.

An Engineer Killed

OGDEN, March 25.—Last night Pat O'Hara, for twenty years an engineer on the Central Pacific, but who recently entered upon the Ogden street motor car service, met his death by striking his head against an electric light pole while looking out from his cab.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded

ST. PAUL, March 25.—Believing the revolver he held to be empty, Wm. Cliuchman, aged 15 years, this afternoon snapped it at Birdie Lucas, and the bullet lodged in her brain. The bullet was extracted and the girl is alive, although dangerously hurt.

A Love Sick Suicide

NEW YORK, March 25.—A special to the Bee from Davisville says: Louisa Frely, [illegible] years old, committed suicide yesterday by taking strychnine because her parents refused their consent to her marriage.

A Chess Tournament

NEW YORK, March 25.—The sixth American chess congress and international tournament began to-day in the Union Square bank building. The attendance was very large.

For beauty, for comfort, for improvement of the complexion, use only Pozzoni's Powder; there is nothing equal to it.

THE NEW PENAL CODE.

A Despotic Blow at Free Speech and Liberty.

HOSTILE CRITICISM FORBIDDEN.

Sir Charles Russell Makes a Statement in the Commons—Continuation of the Discussion About Pigott and Webster

BERLIN, March 25.—The new penal code provides that persons found guilty of inciting one class against another, or of publicly attacking the basis of public and social order, especially religion, monarchy, marriage or property, shall be imprisoned for a term not exceeding three years. Persons convicted of a second offense may be forbidden to reside in certain places.

A newspaper which has been twice convicted of an offense mentioned in the code shall be suppressed. Socialists who have been expelled from the country shall not be allowed to return within five years after the adoption of the code, unless by special permission.

PRESS COMMENT

COLOGNE, March 25.—The Gazette, commenting on the new penal bill, says it must refuse to believe that the national liberals who, upon the last occasion of prolongation of the period of operation of the anti-social law, demanded a settlement of the matter by the completion of the penal code, will decide to limit popular rights as proposed in the bill, and especially to render worse the position of the press by giving the government a clerical weapon with which it can attack all democratic, freisinnige and ultra montane papers. The Gazette's article has caused much comment.

SIR CHARLES RUSSELL.

A Statement by the Clever Defender of Parnell

LONDON, March 25.—In the commons this afternoon Sir Charles Russell made a statement regarding the speech made by Attorney General Webster in the house Friday last. He read a letter which he had written to Webster, in which he said he had not believed that Webster had been correctly reported. It was absolutely incorrect to say that before Pigott's examination or before Pigott fled, that he (Russell) had received information direct or indirect to the effect that Pigott discredited the value of his own testimony. It was absolutely incorrect to say that he had either called for or referred to the letter conveying such information. The attorney general was mistaken in supposing that he had given him five days before Pigott testified, letters discrediting Pigott's evidence. The letters in which Pigott confessed his fears of cross-examination had come upon the speaker and his colleagues as a complete surprise. He did not impute dishonorable motives to the attorney general, but thought Webster had been led away by the political character of the case into a course of conduct which on reflection and in less exciting circumstances he would not have pursued. [Cheers.]

Continuing, Sir Charles said that even when Pigott had testified that he did not get the letters to which reference had been made, Webster admitted that relying upon memory he had erred when he had written to Sir Charles Russell. He argued that in any case the matters were unimportant.

The attorney general persisted that if Sir Charles Russell had consented to have the letter from Soames to Pigott read in court he (Russell) would have been in a position to demand the correspondence to which it referred.

Asquith, who is one of the Parnellite counsel, asserted positively that neither he nor Sir Charles Russell had a ghost or a glimmering of a notion that a letter of Pigott's existed in which he announced that his testimony would be discredited.

Harcourt contended that no answer had been given to his charge that Webster, knowing Pigott to be a doubtful witness, had allowed the Times, for two months, to repeat its odious charges, and further he sat silent while Houston affirmed that he had complete trust in Pigott, which statement Webster knew to be false.

Webster—I have protested that I had no means of knowing that Houston's statement was untrue.

Harcourt, resuming, said that an attorney might weave cobwebs of miserable professional etiquette about the matter, but the common sense of the nation would revolt against keeping alive to the last moment charges known to be false as an act of professional cruelty and injustice.

Sir Edward Clarke, solicitor general, spoke in defense of Webster.

Labouchere said Houston, Soames and Webster had all avoided asking questions concerning Pigott. He attacked the Gladstonian lawyers who abstained from voting when the division was taken on Friday.

Morley said he had not a word to withdraw from what he had said in Friday's debate.

The subject was then dropped.

ON THE ISTHMUS.

Critical Effect of Suspension of Work on the Canal.

PANAMA, March 25.—The condition of affairs on the isthmus has been critical for some weeks past, as already reported, and everything has worn a gloomy aspect. Thousands of men were thrown out of work, but fortunately emigration on an extensive scale has ensued, and it is expected that before the month will have elapsed at least 5000 men will have been sent hence.

Commercial matters all over the Isthmus are in a bad condition and there is little business doing. Colon storekeepers and dealers have united in petitioning for a reduction of all kinds of taxes, owing to the complete stoppage of trade in the city.

In the city of Panama things are much in the same condition. A meeting has been held at which the Panamaians and the foreigners of different nationalities alike spoke, and a decision was reached that the supreme government should be petitioned to reduce the commercial tax, which is enormously high as compared with the amount of business being done. An instance of the condition of affairs has been given by Governor Aycardi, who has issued a decree suspending the payment of the debt of the former state of Panama and effecting other economies. Governor Aycardi states that these measures have been adopted owing to the suspension of work on the canal having reduced the receipts of the government, which will be further diminished, owing to the receipts from the taxes similarly falling off.

In consequence of the collapse of local freight and passenger traffic on the Panama railway, the number employed has been considerably reduced. At present only two passenger and two freights cross this line daily from either end. This reduction in traffic is, of course, due to the stoppage of canal work.

THE REASON WHY

Minister Foster Explains the Action of Canada on the Fishery Question.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 25.—Finance Minister Foster has the following to say regarding the decision of the Dominion government to resume the issue of fishery licenses under the modus vivendi: "The government has come to the conclusion to keep up the modus vivendi for another year. Last year closed with President Cleveland's threat of retaliation, and we had no intimation as to what could be the course of the incoming president. His message contained nothing unfriendly and did not intimate any renewal of the threatened retaliation. The government, therefore, came to the conclusion, acting in concert with Newfoundland, to continue the modus vivendi for the present year with a view to leaving the way open for a resumption of negotiations, if any such desire is found on the part of the United States."

Cleveland's Movements in Cuba.

HAVANA, March 25.—Ex-President Cleveland and party have been visited by both the intendent of the treasury and the director general of marine. The tourists started yesterday for the Santa Rosa estate belonging to Senor Mier. Ex-Postmaster General Dickinson remained at the hotel, being slightly indisposed. He is entirely well again, however.

Refused to Transmit the Bill.

BERLIN, March 25.—The Bundesrath, it is believed, has refused to transmit the penal bill to the legal committee of the house. It is expected that Oehlschlager and Von Schilling will pilot the bill through the reichstag. The Freisinnige Zeitung leads the opposition, that journal protesting against the measure.

The Bourse Weak

WRECKAGE DISCOVERED AT SEA

Condition of Mrs Harriet Beecher Stowe—War Declared on Trades Union—The West Virginia Contest, Etc

NEW YORK March [illegible]—Reports of the lease or consolidation of the Wisconsin Central by the Northern Pacific are denied by the officials of both companies. [illegible] that an agreement between the two companies will be consummated [illegible] of the Northern Pacific directors Wednesday. The Wisconsin Central company is [illegible] controlled by [illegible] Colby [illegible] Hoyt and [illegible] Abbott [illegible] stockholders [illegible] have been directors of the Northern Pacific since 1887 when the [illegible] Henry Villard. Since that time the Wisconsin Central [illegible] the connection of the Northern Pacific [illegible] would ultimately be made

[illegible]

NEW YORK [illegible] would ultimately be [illegible] central [illegible] met for [illegible] traffic between the Northern [illegible] central [illegible] The agreement [illegible] is complete [illegible] and the papers [illegible] signed Wednesday. The Wisconsin Central company [illegible] agrees to carry over the roads trains and cars delivered to them by the Northern Pacific [illegible] cars or trains of deliver to the Northern Pacific [illegible] cars which may be received [illegible] Chicago or Milwaukee destined for points in the Northern Pacific rates to be fixed with the assent of the Northern Pacific

Among other specifications agreed to is one that whenever the gross earnings made upon railways actually owned by the Wisconsin company shall exceed $4,000,000 but not exceed $4,000,000 one third of [illegible] per cent of [illegible] excess to be paid to the Northern Pacific and if the gross earnings exceed $4,000,000 [illegible] half of [illegible] per cent of the excess shall be paid to the Northern Pacific which makes no guarantee

THE UNDERSTANDING IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO March [illegible]—Wisconsin Central officials admit that the Northern Pacific has leased their road. It is understood that the lease will run ninety nine years and that the Northern Pacific is to pay 30 per cent of the gross receipts as rental

MYSTERIOUS WRECKAGE.

Probably it Belongs to the British Ship Yedmandale

NEW YORK March 25—All efforts to trace the identity of the vessel whose wreckage was passed by the steamer Colorado Saturday have so far failed. The agents of the steamer Cosenza of Madrid which sailed from here a week ago for Samoa deny that the wreckage is that of their vessel. They say that it does not correspond in any particular with that of their vessel. The agents of the Clyde line steamer Seminole also denied that the wreckage belonged to their vessel. A possible clue to the vessel was furnished by two incoming vessels this morning. [illegible] line steamer [illegible] from [illegible] arrived early to-day reports [illegible] passed on Saturday at noon a [illegible] steamer [illegible] bound south [illegible] The [illegible] Lockart which [illegible] got in this morning from San Domingo [illegible] port of [illegible] Lockart's captain said that on March [illegible] in latitude [illegible] longitude [illegible] he spoke the British ship Yedmandale in a disabled state. The Yedmandale had a heavy list to the starboard. Her decks were on a line with the water her machinery was disabled and her sails blown away. The disabled vessel displayed a series of signals indicating distress, and he hoisted a request to have her condition telegraphed to the English owners. The Yedmandale left New Orleans for Rouen, France on March 5. On the maritime exchange to-day it was thought probable that the vessel had gone down and the raft and driftwood passed by the Colorado [illegible] were all that were left to tell the story of her distress

SUPPOSED TO BE THE CONTINA

From the description of the wreckage it is now believed [illegible] the gunboat Consina which has so much trouble in getting away from this port because she was suspected of being for the Haytian insurgents

MRS. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE

Her Bodily Health Restored but Her Mind Almost Entirely Gone

NEW YORK [illegible]—A Hartford [illegible] special says [illegible] Stowe [illegible] from Sag Harbor to this city. Only the careful [illegible] her physician and the attentive nursing of her children could have brought [illegible] through [illegible] illness. But Mrs Stowe finally recovered of her ailments and [illegible] now [illegible] as good health as she has [illegible] years

The true mental condition of Mrs Stowe, although well known here in Hartford, is seldom alluded to. It is however a fact that Mrs Stowe's mind is shattered and that she is at best intellectually now but a mere child. Her friends will not say that she is insane, or that she is imbecile but her mind is almost completely gone. Her memory is that of a baby. When her former dear friends visit her, people whom she has known for years she greets them with [illegible] as a symptom in cases of that kind. Of course Mrs Stowe's relatives view all this with a feeling of dismay but they have now become reconciled to the change and her whims are treated with the most tenderness

For some time it was given out that Mrs Stowe did not recognize her friends because of her failing eyesight but this excuse is no longer alluded to and the fact that she is now no longer mentally capable is recognized by everyone. It was also for a long time thought to be an attribute of genius when Mrs. Stowe showed these idiosyncrasies, but the genius which made "Uncle Tom's Cabin" has departed

The father of Mrs Stowe Rev Lyman Beecher passed the closing years of his life with a cloud resting over his mind. His symptoms were greatly similar to those which now affect Mrs Stowe

THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY.

PORTLAND POSTAL STATISTICS

Postmaster Roby Soon to Issue a Book That Will Contain Interesting Information

Postmaster Roby has about ready for the press the last of his copy for a book which will be a complete history and statistics of the postoffice here from the earliest date of which there are any records and will contain answers to any questions liable to be asked regarding postal matters in this section. There will be a chapter of hints, suggestions and information in regard to postal matters which will be of value to the general public

This book will show that the Portland postoffice is the best paying one in any city of the size of Portland in these United States. In a list of eighteen offices in towns of from 60,000 to 100,000 population the Portland postoffice is the seventh in the amount of gross receipts, while in the same list there is only one office in which the gross expenses are as low as in the office here. From this it appears that the Portland postoffice is entitled to more consideration than has heretofore been extended to it in the matter of clerks, carriers etc.

FELL FROM A MOVING TRAIN

Dr Sterling Welch, of Oregon City, Struck Head Foremost on a Pile of Rocks.

Dr Sterling Welch son of Dr John Welch of this city, fell from the rear platform of the last car of the south bound local Southern Pacific train when it was nearing Paper mills at 9 o'clock yesterday morning and struck head foremost on a pile of rock making a long gash on the right side of the head rendering him unconscious

He had hold of the hand rails, and was leaning forward looking under the trucks for a tramp whom he thought was stealing a ride and it is thought that a sudden jerk of the train in rounding a curve threw him off. A brakeman saw him [illegible] The train backed up and he was picked up [illegible] taken to his home [illegible] Oregon City and his [illegible] He was unable [illegible] from concussion of the brain and was unconscious [illegible] hours

He was taken to the Fannie Paddock hospital, but has gradually grown worse, until now he will neither speak nor open his eyes, and is afflicted with melancholia and general stupidity. Walcher is a Swiss and about 27 years old. The head cook at The Tacoma had known him for several years. He says that Walcher was employed in a New York hotel before he came here

CHEHALIS NEWS.

A Rip Van Winkle Armory Discovered in the Woods on the Cowlitz

CHEHALIS March [illegible]—A party of woodsmen working on the old Pinto claim on the Cowlitz river two miles below Toledo, discovered a collection of firearms leaning against a log. There were twenty six of them—some rifles, some shot guns, muskets and old smooth bore guns all of old designs. Some had flint locks and some had been remodeled into percussion cap locks. They were almost crumbling with rust, the wood falling from the iron [illegible] were useless as firearms. They did not seem to have been hidden yet had been there some time. The query is whose property were they and how came they there?

THE STRIKE AT AN END.

The Oregon Coal and Navigation Company's Mine Again Opened.

SAN FRANCISCO March 25—The Oregon Coal and Navigation Company of this city who own the Newport coal mine at Coos bay and the steamers Arago, Arcata and Ajax which run up there have had the mine shut down for some time and the steamers Ajax and Arago laid up here on account of a strike among the miners. The strike is now at an end. The miners have gone back to work at the old rate of wages and the steamers are again to run as usual

Captain C Nelson manager of the company, makes the following statement: Some months ago we reduced the wages at the mine. The men accepted the reduction and everything went along all right until a few of the miners who belonged to the Knights of Labor, agitated for an increase of pay. The men made their demand and were refused. They then demanded that we adopt a sliding scale. This meant that we should show them our books every month and permit them to see how much money we received for our coal and pay them accordingly. If coal went up in price they wanted more wages; if it went down they wanted no reduction. I was all one side and we refused to accept their terms. They then went on a strike. We had seven thousand tons of coal in our bunkers at Mansfield, I'm [illegible] City and here. Coal was selling at a very low figure here, and we were not sorry to shut down the mine. About a hundred men were thrown out of work, and we laid off two of the steam colliers

After a strike lasting seven weeks, the men or those who were left begged to be taken back to work again at the old rates. We opened the mine again and now every day we have more applications from miners who are anxious to go up there and go to work than we can fill

AN EXASPERATING DELAY.

The Quarantine of the Steamer Columbia a Mere Farce.

Rev. Alfred Kummer Again Voices the Sentiments of the Imprisoned Passengers—A Most Outrageous Embargo

STEAMER COLUMBIA, IN QUARANTINE, SAN FRANCISCO BAY, CAL., March [illegible].—Portland [illegible] of them full of anxious [illegible] and anxiety [illegible] vessel. On voyage from Astoria [illegible] With valises in hand and high hopes in our hearts did we [illegible] San Francisco, one week ago [illegible] [illegible] little girl [illegible] who was sick [illegible] [illegible] called in two physicians [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for a [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

On Saturday we [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Thursday [illegible] [illegible] for our release but all in vain.

March [illegible]

To the Honorable Board of Health, San Francisco, Cal.—We the undersigned, cabin passengers of the steamer Columbia, do petition your honorable body to release us at once from quarantine, for the following reasons, namely:

1. After being on this vessel ten days we are all in perfect health.

2. This child and her parents were completely isolated from every one of us, and took every meal in their own room.

3. This child was in the stern of the vessel and there was a strong wind blowing during the entire voyage.

4. There is no means of communication from said room.

5. We have all either had the small pox or have perfect protection in recent vaccination.

6. The ship has been thoroughly fumigated.

7. Our business, professional and social duties are so imperative and our losses so irreparable by this delay, that we do most earnestly request that you will place us on shore to-morrow morning, and allow us to proceed on our several ways.

8. Understanding that a similar petition will be presented to you from the steerage passengers, we recommend that their petition be likewise granted. [Here followed the name of every cabin passenger.]

All the effect of this petition produced in this marvelous San Francisco Board of Health was that they released the steerage passengers [illegible] although they had freely mixed with the cabin passengers and we with them.

In fact the quarantine has been broken again and again, by the health officers, in the unloading of freights from this vessel, and in many other ways. While this breaking quarantine has continued to our hopes, it has at the same time reduced the quarantine to a shocking farce [illegible] From day to day we have had the hope deferred which maketh the heart sick, waiting, hoping, praying, fearing, cursing, according to the several characters of the one hundred and seventy live on board. The words most [illegible] [illegible] What a farce! Outrageous! Exasperating! And many other words I would not care to write.

Meantime every one [illegible] and is perfectly well and is spending the time in reading, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

It is extremely [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible]

The O. R. & N. Co. [illegible] in their power to [illegible] [illegible] comfortable. We have plenty to eat, [illegible] and regular communication with the outside world. But I had rather be a free man among the Baldwin Arabs than a prisoner on the finest steamer in the world!

According to the order received here this morning, we will be allowed to land tomorrow [illegible] [illegible] just fifteen days from the time we left home.

The loss of the O. R. & N. Co. is [illegible] $1000 per day. The Newport is [illegible] freight of the Columbia and will have her [illegible]

After our release my wife and I will spend a month or week [illegible] [illegible] more likely by the Atlantic than the Pacific [illegible] Yours,

PORTLAND, TUESDAY, MARCH 26.

THE READJUSTMENT OF IRON MANUFACTURES.

It is announced that ex-Mayor Hewitt and his brother-in-law, Edward Cooper, of New York city, proprietors of the New Jersey Steel and Iron Works at Trenton, will remove their works about April 1st to Chattanooga, Tenn. These works employ 1500 men. The raw iron and coal supply of this great manufacturing establishment comes from Chattanooga, and the product has a large market in that region. The wonder is not that this readjustment and redistribution of iron manufactures has begun, but that it did not begin five years ago, when it became clearly evident that the time was close at hand when Northern iron manufacturers could not afford to compete to advantage with the South, where labor was cheap, with plenty of coal and iron ore, and limestone for flux at the door of the furnace. The recent failure of the Reading Iron Works, one of the largest iron companies of Pennsylvania, with a full half million of debt in excess of its assets, emphasizes the soundness of Mr. Hewitt's decision to move his enormous iron plant from New Jersey to Tennessee before he sinks it in hopeless battle against ruinous competition. The Philadelphia Times, a democratic journal, says the failure of the Reading works only enforces the lesson that iron producers in Pennsylvania ought to have learned long ago. The iron producers of Pennsylvania are fully protected against foreign competition, but when the South at Birmingham, Ala., and Chattanooga, Tenn., can make iron so cheap that it could market it at a profit even if iron was not protected, why it is clear that capital to be employed to the best advantage in iron manufactures must be transferred from Pennsylvania, Ohio and New Jersey to the iron region of the South.

One-half of the iron establishments of Pennsylvania are to-day incapable of producing iron at a profit. The average cost of producing iron in Pennsylvania is about $16 per ton, although in a few establishments, specially favored in location, perfection of machinery and exceptionally able management, iron is made as low as $13. But Alabama, with its inexhaustible resources of iron, coal and limestone in the same localities, can produce iron at $10 per ton. Of course the transfer, readjustment and redistribution of the vast capital invested in Northern iron works will proceed slowly for some years, but the transfer of Hewitt & Cooper's great establishment deeply marks the beginning of vast industrial and commercial change. There are certain special iron products of Pennsylvania that will for many years continue to command the market, but nothing is more certain than that one-half of the Pennsylvania capital invested in iron will either be obliged to pull up and follow Hewitt & Cooper to the South, or find some new industry at home for profitable investment. Maine, once the greatest pine timber producing section, has so far fallen behind that Maine herself sends to Puget sound for tall spars for her ships; New England has lost her grip on her old time agricultural industries, and so for that matter has New York to a considerable extent. Fruit raising and wine growing has taken the place of wheat growing to a considerable extent in the most fertile counties of Central and Western New York. In this readjustment and redistribution of industries the South is sure to be a great gainer for many years to come, because though an old section of the country, it has remained comparatively undeveloped, through the paralyzing and blighting influence of a slave civilization. Land and labor are cheap at the South; the timber and mineral wealth is immense, there is no lack of water power, or water transportation, and the same transfer of the capital invested in New England cotton mills to the South that has begun in the iron plants of Pennsylvania will surely take place in due time. The South by its improved machinery and management will in time compete successfully with the best iron plants of Pennsylvania and Ohio, and it is certain that at no far distant day the cotton mills of the South, with the raw material and cheap labor at their doors, will be so well managed and produce such excellent material that the great cotton mills of New England will be obliged to close their doors, send their plant South or put it into something more profitable at home than trying to beat Alabama and Mississippi cotton mills situate in the cotton fields.

What the political effect of this transfer of capital, and readjustment and redistribution and transformation of industries would be it is not easy to forecast with certainty. Probably in the iron producing districts of Alabama and Tennessee there would be a considerable increase of democratic protectionists of the school of Randall and Hewitt, but we do not suppose it would very soon or very directly increase the republican vote. Nevertheless the growth of the Randall school of democracy at the South would be vast gain over the present complete supremacy of the [illegible] democrats of the old planter type represented by Mills, [illegible] Vest, Vance, [illegible].

The best thing that could happen to the South would be a large number of [illegible] among the old ante-bellum bourbons. There never will be any New South, or any "Young South" until these old ex-Confederate bourbon brigadiers and politicians are dead or too old and infirm longer to rule its politics. The only hopeful sign at present is the violent denunciation of these bourbon leaders by several intelligent newspapers of Virginia and North Carolina.

The [illegible] at Richmond, Va., a democratic journal, denounces the policy of Carlisle, Mills & Co. as responsible for the defeat of the party. It says: "Every time the South leads the party it gives itself away to the radicals by letting the North say that the rebel flag is the oriflamme of the democratic party. As for Mr. Carlisle and Mr. Mills, it is safe to say that no greater fools have ever given away a great cause when the opportunity was offered to save their section." The democratic journals of North Carolina are equally bitter against Carlisle and Mills.

A WISE DECISION.

Secretary Tracy talks sensibly upon the subject of the employment and dismissal of ex-soldiers in the United States navy yards. "Ability to perform satisfactorily the duties of the position which a man holds, or to which he aspires, must be a condition precedent to the favorable consideration of an application for retention in, or appointment to office." This is the decision of the secretary of the navy, and a wise and just one it is. This ability conceded, the soldier's application will justly take precedence over that of a man who cannot furnish a record of service under his country's flag. This is all that justice requires, and all that it can grant, and be justice still.

Favoritism is the bane of efficiency in all departments of the public service. It is frequently seen in the employment of an incompetent young woman to teach a district school, merely that she may get a title to gratify influential relatives who are tired of taking care of her; in the employment of immoral youths in places of trust, because their fathers are men of social, political or financial prominence; of making an otherwise worthy person, but one wholly incapable of serving the public properly in this capacity as assistant postmaster, for the sake of keeping the money in the family. In short, there is no branch of the public service that is free from this blight of personal favoritism. Its most frequent form is that of nepotism, and under this name it has been a constant source of public annoyance, and not infrequently a cause of public loss and inconvenience.

In view of this well-known fact the announcement of Secretary Tracy, that even a Union soldier, if not competent to perform the duties of the position will not be given employment in his department, is a matter for public congratulation. The republican party is not driven to the expedient of employing useless official material. More is naturally expected of a republican than of a democratic administration in this regard, since the party contains an abundance of available material for governmental purposes without imposing an army of incapables upon the public in positions varying in importance from that of secretary of state to that of a postmaster of the third class.

Of course it is too much to expect that all incapables will be denied employment under the government. They are, as a class, clamorous and persistent, and in the multitude of appointments some of them will get office; but the attitude of the new administration is evidence of a determination to guard carefully the channel of favoritism that leads up to official incompetency, and so reduce it to a minimum.

The Dallas Itemizer urges citizens of Polk county to mind their manners, so to speak, stop stirring up local strife, build a new court house and hold out some inducement to immigrants who are coming this way, to come there and settle. This is good, wholesome advice. The crimes committed in Polk county within a few years, reflect seriously upon a sober-minded, rural community. Bad blood between neighbors is engendered by county seat controversies and the heated discussion of the momentous question of "to build or not to build" a court house. It takes a good deal in the way of climate, soil and fine location to overbalance in the estimation of the peaceable homeseeker local quarrels and neighborhood differences that, even if confined to words—a thing not always to be depended upon—are anything but inviting and reassuring to strangers.

The New York Herald published, and the associated press telegraphed all over the country yesterday a letter of President Harrison to Blaine bearing date of February 1st, 1889. The letter is fairly grammatical in construction, conveys the compliments of the writer to the coming secretary of state and his wife, incidentally mentions Alison, and kindly assures Mr. Blaine that it is not necessary for him to come to Indianapolis, as they will so soon meet in Washington. It is, in short, a model letter from one friend to another, and contains no injunction of secrecy because, clearly, there was nothing in it to conceal. The motive for its publication is not clear, unless news being proverbially scarce Monday morning, it gave a chance to hint at a sensation in a head line.

The Benton Leader, noting the fact of the recent re-election of the officers of the Oregon Pacific, and the Willamette Valley and Coast railways, says this fact is a refutation of statements made from time to time about a coming change in the management of the road and adds that "it will be continued to Boise City by the people who are now building it." The public certainly desires that the hope thus expressed may not prove abortive. When the zealous advocates of the road overcome the idea that other sections of the state are against its completion and other enterprises are jealous of it, they will have taken a long step toward securing their own peace of mind and hastening the energies for the work in hand.

Young [illegible] derive more benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla now than at any other season. Try it.

NEW TO-DAY.

74 Morrison Street.

It is the aim and ambition of this company to do justice to its patrons, buyers and sellers alike. We never recommend property as a bargain unless warranted by the facts. We have no hesitation however in offering the following prices as

—PROFITABLE INVESTMENTS.—

Lot 7, Block 165, Caruthers' Addition, South First and Gaines streets; $1450. Cheap at the price to-day and is usually [illegible] in value.

Lot 9, Block 8, Goldsmith's Addition, 23d and S; horse cars pass the property. $1550.

Ten Acre Farm, [illegible] miles out on O. R. & N.; timber on land will net buyer $300. This is an excellent buy for $1500.

Two Lots, in Second Electric Addition, on the motor line. The only property in East Portland where sewers have been laid; $1400. Easy installments.

Quack! Quack! Quack! Duck hunters attention! 160 acres on Sauvie's Island, known as the "Dead Willows"; $15 an acre.

Two Lots, one a corner, in Cloverdale Extension No. 2. Very low at $500 for the two.

House and Lot in East Portland, on corner, ¼ mile from bridge. House is hard finished and has seven rooms; $1750.

EMPIRE LAND CO., 74 Morrison St.

Notice to Investors.

The lots in HIGHLANDS AND [illegible] HIGHLANDS are the best paying property in this city or around it. We would not dare to make this statement for buncombe talk. But we believe it to be true and we have never heard a person who has seen them but says the same thing. There are several hundred men in this city who are able to build as elegant houses as are already built. Those that are intelligent will select those places to build, where they have the best view, ventilation and drainage on level ground; for it matters not who buys these lots, it is but a few months till they are bought by the rich and most intelligent people. At present they are being sold at nominal prices on small payments, without interest. The property is being handled by who have an office there and at No. 7½ Washington street, Portland, Oregon.

A MOTHER GOOSE MONUMENT.

"Boston wants to erect a monument to Mother Goose," says a western editor. "Let the geese contribute the funds." The testimony of thousands establishes the fact that Dr. Tutt's Pills, followed by quinine, is a permanent cure for chills and fever. "Our physicians prescribe them in their practice," writes T. H. Atrey, Holly Springs, Miss. A monument to Dr. Tutt could, no doubt, be readily raised in almost any malarial district. The contributors could be the grateful thousands who have been cured by these pills.

DRESS GOODS.

We would call special attention to our importations of SILK BROCHE PONGEES in both street and evening shades. There are no prettier goods in the market, and the price places them in the reach of all.

PATTERN SUITS—Our collection of fine Pattern Suits can not be excelled. All of you who attended our opening know this without our telling. You who have not examined the line should do so at once before the assortment is broken.

FRENCH BIEGES—We have a magnificent line of 38-inch Bieges, in solid colors, stripes and plaids. They make up very pretty as combinations, or are equally desirable to make up of one pattern or of plain goods. We have placed them on our counters at the low price of 40c per yard. We can not duplicate the line and would advise early purchases if you desire a choice of styles.

* * *

WASH FABRICS.

In a former article we gave a description of the spring styles of the leading lines of Wash Fabrics for the coming season. We wish now to direct your particular attention to our stock of FRENCH AND AMERICAN SATEENS. Our prices range from TWENTY CENTS PER YARD FOR THE AMERICAN ARTICLE UP TO FIFTY CENTS PER YARD FOR THE FINEST OF THE FRENCH MAKES. A description of the many designs would take up too much of our space and we will content ourselves by saying that we are positively showing the largest and grandest range of designs in Sateens of any house in the city. We know we can please you either in Plain or Fancy Sateens.

* * *

PERSIAN TRIMMINGS.

Our entire stock has arrived, and as the line was not complete the night of our opening we shall make a special display of these goods for the coming week. You must see these goods to appreciate them. We are showing them in all the new shades and have them worked on SILK, SERGE, FLANNEL, HENRIETTA, CASHMERE and ALBATROSS—in fact, suitable for any kind of dress fabric.

* * *

MUSLIN UNDERWEAR.

This was another line that we could not display at the opening, owing to the non arrival of our spring lines. They are all here now and it is an elegant and attractive lot of goods. Styles are exclusive with ourselves. The line includes Ladies' Lace or Embroidery Trimmed Skirts, Chemises, Drawers, Nightgowns and Infants' Slips and Dresses, Misses' White Dresses and Aprons. We invite your inspection.

PORTLAND, TUESDAY MARCH 26

A TYPICAL AMERICAN INDUSTRY

The New York Herald makes this statement about salt, viz:

The salt manufactured in Michigan and New York during the last ten years has been placed upon the market and sold at substantially the same price for which English salt has been sold in Liverpool. In fact there is no market in the world where the same grades of salt can be purchased as cheaply as in Michigan and New York.

So it seems that the complaint of the free-traders and democrats uttered persistently during the campaign of last year that the duty on salt was an oppressive one had no foundation. The New York Herald, one of the leading free trade and democratic organs of the country now confesses the truth. The following table taken from the annual report of the Saginaw board of trade shows the cost of Michigan salt per barrel during the past twenty-three years:

1866	$1 [illegible]	[illegible]	$1 [illegible]
1867	1 [illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
1868	1 [illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
1869	1 [illegible]	[illegible]	70
18[illegible]	1 [illegible]	1882	61
[illegible]	[illegible]	1883	[illegible]
[illegible]	1 [illegible]	1884	[illegible]
[illegible]	1 [illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	1 [illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	1 [illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
18[illegible]	[illegible]

[illegible] the report the lowest [illegible] at $1 per barrel of 280 [illegible] shipping, the Ashton [illegible] Western markets. The [illegible] Ohio [illegible] other series of [illegible] declared Michigan salt to be the best for dairy purposes.

[illegible] to the controversy as to protection or the development of home production under our tariff system has reduced the cost to consumers. [illegible] American salt is [illegible] foreign salt and the duty still maintained prevents foreign producers from underselling our home manufacturers at a ruinous rate with a view of again controlling the American market.

But now the great salt syndicate of England finding the effort to beat American production a hopeless one is proposing a combination with our producers to raise the price. This moves the New York Tribune to say: "Protection has two foes to fight. In order to serve the country according to its aim it has to vanquish the skill of foreign rivals and the greed of home producers. When defense against foreign competition has so developed home industry that the competition of domestic producers reduces cost to consumers the next step is often an effort of producers to lift prices again by some sort of combination."

The Tribune adds that the Americans who enter into such combinations are not the friend but the worst enemies of the protective system. If they carry out the plan ascribed to them they at least will have no right to complain if a congress representing American consumers should sweep away every cent of the duty on foreign salt.

MUNICIPAL CONSOLIDATION

Twenty years ago the boundaries of New York city were enlarged by the annexation to the city of portions of the towns of Fordham, West Farms and Morrisania and the Bronx river was made the eastern boundary of the city. To-day it is proposed further to enlarge the city so as to consolidate under one municipal government Manhattan Island the whole of Kings county the towns of Flushing, Newtown and Jamaica, all of Richmond county and the town of West Chester, so that the northern boundary of New York city shall run across the Hudson south of Yonkers to the sound. The area of this enlarged city would be 320 square miles or less than one half the area of London and its population would exceed 2,500,000 or about one half that of London. London has an area of 690 square miles and a population of nearly 5,000,000.

In support of this enlargement of New York city Judge Kilbreth points out that while its population during the last fifteen years has increased about one half there has been an actual decrease in crime. There has been an actual decrease in the total number of arrests in a population of 1,800,000 in 1888 as compared with a population of 1,000,000 in 1[illegible]. The arrests for felonies have fallen off more than 50 per cent, for intoxication and disorderly conduct 13 per cent, and for juvenile delinquency 35 per cent. Judge Kilbreth quotes these statistics as proof among many that the larger the town grows the better becomes the government. The New York Sun recites these facts and confirms them as follows:

When New York city was one-third its present size as to population and only about one half its present area crime and disorder were much more frequent than they are now. Then scarcely an election passed without riots but now no matter how bitter the contest the town has a sabbath-like peacefulness on every election day. Then the streets were filled with disorderly characters at night but now a woman can walk alone and undisturbed at any hour in almost any part of the town. The gangs of young ruffians in some of the wards have been broken up and the political power of [illegible] has been destroyed.

The experience of New York City during its years of growth are worth reflecting upon by the persons who oppose the enlargement of Portland by annexation of East Portland and our other suburbs.

CONVEY THE WISE IT CALL

Under the head "Take it Home to Yourself" THE SUNDAY OREGONIAN printed some fine verses credited as original by Edith A[illegible]. These verses were stolen bodily from a beautiful poem by Adelaide Proctor published years ago entitled "Judge Not." What [illegible] a certain class of young [illegible] women [illegible] from an author of celebrity and [illegible] as the work of the [illegible] is one of the things that [illegible]. General [illegible] fraud [illegible] detected [illegible] some time by [illegible] stolen verses [illegible] a few [illegible] that the New York Graphic was [illegible] and one [illegible]. When [illegible] Dr Lorimer of Chicago [illegible] their own an entire sermon from the [illegible] works of the Rev. D. Joseph [illegible] of London the plea offered [illegible] a defense of wholesale plagiarism [illegible] a preacher of Philadelphia [illegible] [illegible] apprehension [illegible] a whole poem [illegible] beggar who when asked [illegible] wasn't ashamed [illegible] "I'm [illegible] but I'm full" [illegible] burglar. The young woman who has undertaken to deck her dull head with the laurels of Adelaide Proctor ought to remember that good verses are not so common but that her published thefts will be [illegible] soon or late to find her out.

The grave of ex-President Arthur in the Rural cemetery at Albany will soon be marked by a monument consisting of a sarcophagus copied from the Egyptian tombs, and resting on a granite platform. This fact recalls his connection with the Grant monument fund and leads to the reflection that his own monument will probably have time to become worn by time and weather before that of Grant gets beyond the point of urgent solicitation for funds with which to build it. It is true the latter if ever completed will be an imposing structure but it will be more a monument to the persistent efforts of a few than an expression of the patriotism and gratitude of the many toward a great soldier.

A GENEROUS LEGISLATURE

Figures compiled from official records show the aggregate sum voted out of the state treasury under the head of appropriations by the late legislature to have been enormous. These amounts have been published in detail in THE OREGONIAN but by way of recapitulation it may [illegible] to say that the regular appropriation bill amounted to $[illegible]411 68, which sum was swelled to $[illegible] by special appropriations. Of this, the construction of wagon roads in various sections [illegible] for $113,000, the agricultural college for $37,[illegible], three local agricultural societies for an aggregate of $[illegible] and committee clerks hire, mainly paid to pretty [illegible] who should have been at home with their mothers, at $[illegible]. Of course this expenditure will have to be met. The representatives of the people have decreed it and there is no appeal. But to meet it the state tax levy for current expenses next year must be heavy. There is no surplus in the state treasury to draw upon, hence the whole sum must be provided by direct taxation.

Farmers who plod on in the old way and make practical husbandmen of their sons without the aid of agricultural college theories, reasonably content if they can steer them clear of agricultural fair follies and whose daughters work a month in apple-drying time to earn as much as a sixteen year old girl was given for playing at a committee clerkship for a single day will grow [illegible] as they pay their quota of the required tax. Men who upon order of the local supervisor shoulder pick and shovel and go out to work the roads in their respective districts or who stand and deliver to the road agent who never fails to "hold them up" when they do not work the public highways individually will it is feared grow profane when their substance is levied upon to build wagon roads on a scale so colossal in remote sections of the state. Not that protest or blasphemy will avail anything but it is all that is left for these taxpayers to do except to rustle around and raise money to pay their taxes before the expense is doubled up on them by having their property listed as delinquent.

Whatever else may be charged up against the legislature of 1889 it cannot be said that it was not a generous body—generous to a degree almost unprecedented of the people's money.

Canada is taking its turn at a sensation. The president's proclamation closing Behring's sea broke in upon the dead level of negotiations that had been in progress for two years between the Canadian government and Cleveland's administration looking to a compensation for the seizure of three British sealing vessels in those waters. When the dominion government gets used to the fact that there are Americans looking out for the interests of the United States at the head of the government its members will not be so easily startled. Of course it will come hard upon their nerves at first.

By the collapse of the copper combination Boston was amerced in the round sum of $[illegible]. That city was the one great owner of copper mining stocks. Boston has also lost as much or more during the last few months by the decline of Western railway shares. So far the year has been a very unfortunate one for capitalists of Boston.

MONS. OVIDE MUSIN

Superb Concert By the Celebrated Violin Virtuoso and His Company of Artists

It is not often permitted to a Portland audience to enjoy such a musical feast as that which was furnished them last evening by M. Ovide Musin the distinguished violinist and his superb company. [illegible] on the other hand is [illegible] the New Park [illegible] filled with such an intelligent and evidently critical audience.

Long before the hour for the commencement of the concert the house began to fill up and by the time the hour arrived there were few available seats on the main floor. There was an expectant air about the audience; they were seemingly on the qui vive for something good. Many were present who had listened with keen pleasure to Musin upon the occasion of his first visit, two years ago, and they realized the treat which awaited them.

The first number on the programme was a piano solo "Rhapsodie Hongroise" (Liszt) played by the pianist of the company, Mr Edward M Shonert, which was received with tremendous applause. Mr Shonert played with an easy command of the instrument. His execution was artistic and his phrasing was fine. He shows a technique that is evidently the result of careful study. For an encore he played a "Tarantelle" (Wilson G. Smith) in a very pleasing style. His second number "Caprice" (Raff) was equally well received.

Mr Whitney Mockridge, the tenor who impressed his hearers most favorably four years ago, when he made his initial bow to a Portland audience [illegible] Visitor [illegible] in such a manner as to elicit the most rapturous applause. He has a true tenor voice of [illegible] quality. His tones are round and full and his method is that of the trained artist. His middle tones [illegible] are really the true [illegible] and the low tones [illegible] his higher notes are given with most admirable precision and force. He [illegible] sang most delightfully "La Donna e Mobile" (Verdi). His second number "[illegible] the Golden [illegible]" (Balfe), a delightful ballad, was sung in most exquisite style and for an encore he gave the [illegible] "Proposal" (Brackett).

Miss Annie Louise Tanner, the brilliant soprano, was received with a burst of applause as she came upon the stage. Her first number "Air and Variations" (Proch) was eminently adapted to show off the admirable qualities of her splendidly trained voice. She shows progress and decided gains since she last sang here two years ago. Her voice has gained in power and volume especially in the middle and lower registers. There was hardly room for improvement in her upper notes. She sings with the greatest ease [illegible] her staccato is so true [illegible] as to be a most phenomenal. The [illegible]

GRAND MASONIC BANQUET,

Given at East Portland Last Night by Washington Lodge No 46.

Addresses, Music, Recitations, Toasts and a Feast—An Attempted Robbery—Baby Home Election—Funeral of Jas B Stephens

Met again, met again in this loved retreat,
And Oh! it fills our souls with joy
Our brothers here to greet,
Here friendship beams from every eye,
And smiles on every face
There's naught on earth can break the tie
That binds us to this place.

The social entertainment given by Washington Lodge, No 46 A F and A M last night in Masonic hall was a signal success. An audience large, intelligent and appreciative, filled the hall comfortably, composed of invited guests, Masons with their wives and daughters, the members being distinguished by their regalia.

At [illegible] the hall was called to order by S. Bullock, W. M., and the opening ode, "Met Again," was sung.

Words of welcome were addressed [illegible] presiding officer [illegible]

P[illegible] and his daughter [illegible] then entertained the audience with a vocal duet, which was [illegible] encored.

[illegible]

Mrs W. A. Wetzel [illegible] Huntsman Horn [illegible] that has not [illegible]

[illegible] Masonry [illegible]

The East Portland Glee Club gave a selection that was highly entertaining.

Prof W A Wetzel gave an amusing reading with force and clearness.

The German character song by J. W. Raymond was a surprise to his friends and was more than a [illegible] of fun.

C. E. Miller was heartily applauded for a well rendered solo.

The programme closed with a duet by Prof Bullock and his wife, that received a shower of applause.

The audience was then directed into the adjoining room where a bountiful repast had been prepared. When all had been seated and were testing the good things, S. S. Bullock proposed the toast, "The wives and daughters of Masons," which was appropriately responded to by Hon S R Harrington.

Thus closed a most successful entertainment and one of the most agreeable remarks made by the presiding officer was that other similar entertainments might be expected.

Accompanists Miss Dora Humphrey and Miss Fannie Bullock.

Now farewell [illegible] of meeting
Let us here, in unison sing
Now we will not live defeating
All that prompts to turn from wrong
Then at last, on high ascending
Shall our anthems joyous rise,
With angelic voices blending
Far above yon azure skies.

AN ATTEMPT TO ROB

Yesterday two tramps from the other side came to the East side with a man named Booth, a resident of Wheatland. They ran across Booth in Portland when he was overcome with drink, learned that he had some money and wanted to go to Wheatland. They induced him to come over here, representing that he should take the train from the East side depot. All three arrived before the train left, and the two succeeded in engaging Booth's attention so that when the train pulled out it went without him. They then steered him into a saloon. Marshal Morgan now noticed their peculiar actions and soon had Booth in his charge. He objected very strongly against going to jail but he was taken there, where he spent the night. It was certainly very fortunate for him that this was done as $63.30 was found on him. He would not have had 30 cents had he remained with his two companions.

THE LATE JAMES B. STEPHENS

The funeral of James B Stephens, the veteran pioneer and founder of East Portland will take place Tuesday March 26 at 2 [illegible] sharp. Mayor Wheeler will ask that the business houses be closed during the [illegible] the funeral procession is passing through the streets, between 2 and [illegible]. It is right and proper that this respect should be shown to the departed pioneer. The fire bell will be tolled between [illegible] while the procession is moving to the cemetery. He will be buried by the side of his wife in Lone Fir. All are invited to attend and the attendance will doubtless be very large.

The schools will close to-day at [illegible] to enable the children to attend the funeral.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The stockholders of the Baby Home met at the hall of the W. C. T. U. Saturday evening for the purpose of organizing, and electing officers [illegible] of the stock [illegible] taken. The bylaws were adopted and the following board of directors were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs [illegible] Mr [illegible] A L Kern Mrs [illegible] and Mrs Harbon, after which the board met and elected Mrs Kern president, Mrs Warner vice president, Mrs Wells secretary, and Mrs Harbon superintendent. It is hoped that the citizens will help this good work by taking the rest of the stock.

NOTES

Prof Wetzel's entertainment for the benefit of the Baby Home to-morrow night.

It is stated that the late James B. Stephens has deeded a block of land to this school district.

The Willamette Bridge Railway Company commence running cars to Holladay avenue to-day. This will be a great convenience.

The funeral service of the late Mrs J C Mendenhall took place yesterday afternoon from the Methodist church and was largely attended. The discourse was delivered by Rev. S. P. Wilson, her former pastor who came from Eugene for that purpose.

SEARCHING FOR THE DROWNED BOY

Dynamite Bomb Exploded in the River Fail to Raise the Body

Yesterday morning the river was again dragged in the vicinity of the Oak street dock for the body of James Burns, the 8-year-old lad who is supposed to have drowned there Saturday afternoon. One of the grappling hooks was lost, but no trace of the body was found.

Mr Burns the father of the boy then set about to see whether anything could be done with dynamite cartridges. Capt. [illegible] Boyle was appealed to and willingly gave every assistance in his power. After having obtained permission from the mayor the captain rowed out into the river a short distance below the steamer Alarm landing and exploded several dynamite bombs. Three single bombs were exploded in fifteen feet [illegible] without any results. A double bomb was then dropped down to a depth of about twenty feet and when the fire reached bottom through the long fuse there were two faint reports accompanied by a trembling of the water and then a large column shot high into the air like smoke belching forth from a volcano.

Hundreds of fish came to the surface killed by the shock but though a long watch was kept the body was nowhere to be seen. The captain is told that the body would be dislodged if it were anywhere within one block of the place where the bomb was exploded and it is possible that it may yet be found washed ashore this morning.

J. C. Harris was arraigned in the police court yesterday [illegible] charge of robbing Charles Brown, an old [illegible] veteran, of $43 in a back room [illegible] W. Menser [illegible] First and [illegible] street. The circumstances of the robbery are given as follows:

[illegible]

His case will have a preliminary examination this afternoon.

AN INSANE WOMAN'S LEAP

Mrs. Lemon Jumps From a Train Going at the Rate of Twenty Miles an Hour

The family of [illegible] farmer living near Harrisburg were greatly surprised when a [illegible] woman of 40 with a long gash extending down the left side of her forehead and face, and another [illegible] to say nothing of being generally used up, made her way into the house at daylight yesterday and explained that the through northbound train from California had been wrecked near by and that her husband and five small children had been killed in the smash up.

The woman's appearance being suggestive of a wreck, her statement naturally created a consternation, and while the women in the house attended to her wants, the men hurried to the railroad track to do what they could for the supposed sufferers. Seeing the train backing up slowly, they felt convinced that something dreadful had happened, but their visions in this direction were dispelled when the train hands made inquiry for the woman. She was put aboard and taken to Salem, whither she was bound.

The woman's name is Mrs. A. Lemon. With her husband and five children she had come from Missouri to settle near Salem. While the car was going at the rate of twenty miles an hour she jumped from the rear platform of an immigrant sleeper. She is insane.

With the exception of a few bruises and gashes Mrs. Lemon escaped without injury.

Al. J Cody and Charles S. Perkins Both Indicted by the Grand Jury

She Is "Cruel, Jealous and Neglectful"—"Out of Sorts"—Will Filed—Ah Go To Be Tried—Other Notes

The final hearing in the case of Cost vs. Packwood was concluded in the United States circuit court yesterday and the counsel made their argument and the case was submitted, and it is probable that the matter will be decided and finally disposed of before long. The suit is about the Eldorado mining ditch in Baker county, the longest ditch in the country if not in the world, but the ditch in point of being long drawn out is not a circumstance to the suit.

The ditch was built by Packwood with borrowed capital and was sold to pay his creditors. The purchaser had a lien on the work for claims but he had put into it, "thrown in the ditch," as it were, and other persons had enough liens on the ditch to kill it. Out of this nice condition of affairs as a starter has arisen a complication of lawsuits, cross bills, revivors and other things which would puzzle the traditional Philadelphia lawyer to understand or set to rights.

KUHN'S WILL

The will of Charles F. Kuhn, which was filed yesterday, divides the estate, which is appraised at $1,200, among his relatives.

MINOR COURT NOTES

Marriage licenses were granted yesterday for Richard S. [illegible] and Amelia J. M[illegible], E M Lamson and Lizzie Jacob.

Long Long Dick, who was sentenced to the penitentiary for life for complicity in the murder of Lee Yick, was taken to Salem yesterday.

Declarations of intention of becoming citizens were filed yesterday by I. O. Hom[illegible], a native of Sweden, and Julien Wasser, a native of Germany.

POLICE COURT

The usual list of drunks opened the session in the police court yesterday afternoon. M K Krebs, A S Wetzel and James Kelly, simple drunks, paid $2 fine each. Thomas Jutfeld, drunk, $5. Fred William, drunk and disorderly, $10.

John Kenny, charged with begging on the public streets, was fined $10.

Ah Lee, the Chinaman arraigned on a charge of cruelty to animals Saturday last, was not in court when his case was called and his bail of $10 was ordered forfeited.

Counsel for William Hown, the man who assaulted John Buckley with a knife some time ago, made an application that the bail of his client be reduced on the ground that the injured party was entirely out of danger. The showing being satisfactory, the court reduced the bail from $3,000 to $1,500.

[illegible] charged with [illegible] to Neil McKinnon [illegible] charged with begging was dismissed for want of prosecution.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Vessels will go ashore on the coast of Washington and no one is to blame for it. Who can be called to account? The people of Gray's Harbor, they say, ought to keep pilots out to steer ships so they won't go ashore. Wouldn't it be better to hire Paul Boyton to take his diet and bedding with him and skirmish along the coast. If the crews of vessels [illegible] change which he is contemplating out on top of a wave he may do good work.

Salem advertised itself last year and [illegible] 2500 new people to help its fortunes with its press. [illegible] some thing to say. There is a fine country around Salem and [illegible] growers and gardeners. [illegible] when gardening within a few miles of Portland was a good business and [illegible]. All [illegible] around Portland do well to do because the land within five miles of here is worth $2000 an acre. Those who buy land near any of the thrifty towns that [illegible] may well believe that in a few years it will bear an enhanced price. [illegible] such as those who located around Portland have realized.

The Seattle Sunday Budget is raking up early history. It has found a story of a justice of the peace who lived near Dungeness and was called on to marry a couple. He concluded with the customary adjuration, a little weakened by a personal allusion. As he rendered it the closing admonition sounded: "What we and God have joined together let no man put asunder, or there'll be trouble." The self conceit of humanity seldom reaches any more absurd climax than this, and it is probable the incident loses any approach to impiety or to profanity by the fact that the intense self assumption of the said Shaw saw and meant no impropriety. The capacity of some to sustain the ego is above an ordinary [illegible].

Dakota has had very great success with artesian wells, and the benefits they secure are absolutely incalculable. If there is a natural field for these [illegible] the immense plains of the upper waters of the Missouri, why should there not be [illegible] security for procuring such water supply in the interior regions between the Cascades and Rocky ranges? If water can be procured there in quantity and with reasonable cost that desert part of [illegible] will become like a garden [illegible] it possesses unsurpassed soil and [illegible] less water than is required [illegible] will make it highly productive. All that is [illegible] that a little [illegible] applied will be sufficient to bring excellent crops.

Prophets east of the Cascades differ as to when the twentieth century will begin, and [illegible] Charley Bessler of the Walla Walla [illegible] is in it. He thinks the twentieth century begins on the 1st day of January 1900, but he is wrong. [illegible] the first year of the new [illegible] of December 1900 [illegible] the first day of January 1901 [illegible] years.

[illegible] Washington [illegible] It is only just to give Cleveland's administration its due.

The Enterprise renews her protests against THE OREGONIAN's sending people off down the Columbia and along the coast to find homesteads and in Eastern Oregon when there are such large unimproved holdings of land in this valley that should be subdivided into small farms. Very true. There are numerous large tracts held by individuals who do not improve their land but who cannot be compelled to sell out. That will be a gradual process, for they must in time find it impossible to hold when land is worth more than they can afford to hold at. There are getting to be live real estate men through the valley who are subdividing these holdings as fast as possible to be done. In these valleys lands will change owners, but there are few chances here to take up pre-emptions or homesteads, and many come who want these. It becomes a duty then to study the interests of outlying districts where lands can be taken up. THE OREGONIAN practically represents all the region it reaches and wishes to advocate the interests of all. There are counties where lands [illegible] immigration, and the state at large is more interested in developing the districts now so well known than [illegible] thickly peopled, the older settled valleys.

The agricultural drainage law is a very important measure. There are level lands, as on French prairie, where drainage is very necessary and the land cannot be maintained without it is done. [illegible] through the land of a neighbor [illegible] neighbor for eighty years [illegible] good [illegible].

The city of [illegible] is beginning to learn [illegible] water to its own interests. [illegible] future.

The second Friday in April will be Arbor day [illegible] and Albany or The Dalles.

The tramp season has begun early this year, says the Enterprise, and no doubt it has, and will end late. The tramps are now out of winter quarters—asylums and jails, where they have all ordinary fare—and are off for new fields and pastures green. They are posted as to good spots to lounge on and expect literally to "grow" on the fatness of city housewives and country dames. They will be pampered and fed up to the top of their bent and sleep in barns or under hay stacks and steal what they can meet. The very people who complain most of these vagabonds will do the most to encourage them, for instead of feeding them they should complain of them as vagrants and the law should break them into working for an honest living by making them break stones for the highway awhile. Tramps are created by good treatment.

The custom house business has improved, or at least increased, of late, and the Wasco Sun imagines it is a federal tax on the state of Oregon. But the duties paid at Portland are paid by the Pacific Northwest, and the question is whether this part of the country pays more than its proportionate amount towards maintaining the national expenses. It is by customs dues and internal revenue that the national expenses are paid, and interest and pensions. Now if the total collected by these two sources is a sum larger than this section should justly pay as its proportion, then there is some cause for complaint. If not, we should consider ourselves well used. The [illegible] of those who want to complain is constantly heard, and the facts are often concealed from view by those who claim to be organs of public opinion, but these are the facts.

While President Harrison was taking the oath of office President Cleveland was holding an umbrella over the head of his successor, for it was pouring rain. It was not easy to say which was the president while the oath was in progress, but it is easy to see that Cleveland was acting the gentleman in a very pleasant way. His last days were his best days. In [illegible] showed him in a pleasant light. Nye and Cornelius went together in 187[illegible] to see [illegible] inaugurated, but he had [illegible] it was cold as Greenland [illegible] Washington indulges in Arctic touches in March and the year 187[illegible] saw one of them. Nevertheless there was an immense crowd and all the world was there to look on, and at night it was brilliant and was lit up by all sorts of fireworks.

The question with many honest men is: How can Grover Cleveland, with the practice of law which he and [illegible] and Daniel are gone [illegible] in New York [illegible] custom as [illegible] draw fees in sums [illegible]. The ex-president attended strictly to business while in office and deserves a rest. [illegible] good country to rest in, and Lamont and Vilas good companions. No president ever bent himself so ardently to the work of his office. Let him go fishing now where he pleases for his [illegible] for the present. Perhaps he has an eye to his ease and means to buy Cuba—then if Blaine does not grab it up the Gem of the Antilles in the next four years Cleveland is [illegible] to run again and succeed Harrison and then wants to know if Cuba is really worth having before he buys it.

Woolen mills are a good thing to have in a family [illegible] the old time people had to. They had all the material from the sheep to grow the wool to the loom to weave it, and the home made and home spun goods wore well and kept people [illegible]. The old folks are gone and the homespuns have given place to woolen goods, and woolen mills give us cotton and wool mixtures instead of woolens. The advantage with the Oregon manufacturers is that they really give all wool goods, which should make them sell well. The good people of Albany are to have the Brownsville machinery moved there and will soon be blessed with a woolen mill of their own. Albany is not likely to permit Salem to get the advantage in any such enterprise. When a state begins to have success with manufactures they always increase and grow in capacity. If Oregon finds a market for home made goods the business will be apt to become a great field of enterprise, and mills will become larger as to capacity as well as more numerous. It will require quite a number of them to use up the twenty million pounds of wool Oregon will soon produce.

The prosperity of Washington approaches the greatest time of the newer Western states that were [illegible] with population and built up cities in a day, as it were, where a wilderness had ever existed. Oregon had its slow growth to make under very different conditions, and there never was any such booms or progress before as we realize now, though even now Washington monopolizes the excitement and manages to pocket most of the rush. There are many quiet people, however, who drift over to Oregon from the Sound country and congratulate themselves on having done so, besides which Oregon is constantly receiving a direct immigration that makes no fuss. Washington works hard for what population it receives and receives all she gets. [illegible] that cannot be overlooked.

Of course a man must be a small capitalist or [illegible] $800. He tried to [illegible] for the money but [illegible] 210 acres [illegible] $4 [illegible] $100 in debt [illegible] Neighbors [illegible] his fine home [illegible] orchard [illegible] He owns himself and his [illegible] to support them [illegible] fruit crop keeps him busy. This is all occurred in this valley and shows what will and energy will do.

THE CITY OF OLYMPIA

Its Noted Beauty of Location—The New Order of Things.

A New Hotel, Street Railway and Daily Paper—No Moss on This People.

This city is at the head of navigation on Puget sound and at the extreme southern point of [illegible] Inlet. It is built on a plateau of ground that rises naturally from the bay by a semicircular formation, which gradually elevates the location until the hilltop is reached, from the commanding point of which a scene of beauty unfolds itself that enraptures the visitor, and is never wearying or monotonous to the resident.

Those who located this townsite were men whose vision encountered in one scene a picture of loveliness unequaled. The forests, with their mossy and variegated foliage, the bay, its [illegible] and evened surface waters, the mountain ranges, with their kingly peaks of Mounts Rainier, St. Helens and Baker, together [illegible] the entire length [illegible] portion of nature's artistic and [illegible] work, all present a scene of beauty that [illegible] could not have conceived.

Here is the capital of Washington, and it brings with it the social culture, courteous amenities and [illegible] cordiality which centers in all capitals. The government building used for legislative purposes is a sight of in the beautiful grounds that surround it—a tract of tree-bedecked ground [illegible] that seems boldly to proclaim [illegible] was made to surround and [illegible]. Its counterpart cannot be found in Washington territory, and its commanding [illegible] overlooking mountain, valley and [illegible] is equally renowned with [illegible] the Potomac picture [illegible]. There is a serene sort of contentment [illegible] the very air of Olympia [illegible] at its older and wealthier [illegible] disturb the composure of [illegible] the tumult incident to rapid changes [illegible] in real estate. But it is the [illegible] with the solidity of wealth and contentment that settled affairs bring that [illegible] who has climbed over logs [illegible] miles in other cities to [illegible] prices higher than inside [illegible] lands. It is hard to understand why [illegible] property will not have [illegible] boom property elsewhere [illegible] of which solid cities are made. [illegible] academies and public schools [illegible] establishes it as a place of learning. The business houses are filled with large stocks of goods, while the show windows exhibit a class and quality of goods which only settled wants demands. The whole scene suggests that it only requires a knowledge of this section and its present price of real estate to make you want some of it. The telegraph offices employ just force enough with three attaches each to establish the fact that business is here. The daily arrival of vessels via two regular lines, including the frequent arrivals of other boats, denotes the traffic of the Sound. The constant and frequent trips of the Narrow Gauge railway, with its continued long trains of massive logs, determines one source of revenue, while the buzz of gang saws tells of the money value of lumber annually cut. If you delve into figures, the startling amount of 15,000,000 feet annually presents itself as the output of sawmills in this county, while the assessed valuation of city and county property stands up in array of one-half as many dollars as the feet are in lumber. Besides all this, day in and out tug boats are towing great rafts of logs to other points.

Look out upon the streets, and farmers' teams loaded with grain, hay or other produce confront you, yet there is no hurrah, brass bands or great real estate bulletin boards in your way to allure you. The only life manifested outside the regular order of things is in the new real estate offices, which seemingly are clearing the decks for action. But if you drift out into the county offices and overhaul the index to transfers, you will note that something has inspired confidence. You will notice that these transfers are not wholly to strangers, for if any property is offered at half way fair prices the home people quietly take it in.

A few evenings since some few "solid" men gathered together and resolved that visitors should no longer walk the streets for want of hotel room. The crowds that have been coming to "catch on" to the "boom" have filled all the hotels, and at times visitors would find accommodations scarce. These same visitors realize that in the natural order of things if any city is to participate in the good times now in Washington territory, surely Olympia must and will be one of them, and to enjoy their pro rata share the loss of a night's sleep is naught in comparison to the certain profit arising therefrom, so the absence of a bed is not demoralizing. If they can come hundreds of miles and stand up all night in a hallway to catch their first chance at the sale of town lots, they won't complain when some more lucky buyer has got a bed. But these solid citizens are determined to shelter them. One of them inaugurates the new hotel scheme with a subscription of $[illegible], when lo! others follow suit, until about $[illegible] is in the hands of the committee, and the new hotel becomes an assured fact. In discussing the time required to build it, it was decided to build at once and commemorate the event of completion in a Fourth of July celebration. Outsiders can prepare accordingly and secure rooms ahead in the new hotel. Who was it that said Olympia was an old fogy town? If he is found, may he come from a city with one half as much "get up" to it, and one ever ready, when the times demand it, to show the world that it acts and does not decorate its promises in lurid colors of continued failure.

There is no denying the fact that the fever of success is infectious and that Olympia has caught it. Even the streets resound with the evidence, and it is foreshadowed from the urchin's throat as he briskly sings out "Daily Olympian" all about the new edition, or in more stentorian tones he yells "Here's your paper, full account of the new hotel and the charter for a new street railway." And it is all a fact too. Even the Board of trade or the immigration board has frequent meetings in which the visitor is lost in discovering that army of "moss backs" heretofore declared to be. They are gone, for the man of means is at the front with check book and heart as open as the most clamorous boomer could ask.

A REMARKABLE EVENT

BUYERS SET UP ALL NIGHT TO GET THE FIRST CHANCE AT LOTS IN A NEW AND DESIRABLE ADDITION TO OLYMPIA

It has been the habit of neighboring towns and cities in speaking of Olympia in the past, to refer to it as moss-covered, and antediluvian, and to do this more from force of habit than from a conviction that the city was inactive. How rapidly these calumniators would change their minds if they could have been in this city on March 11 and 12. A Mr Woodruff of this city, a young gentleman of energy, nerve and push, bought 157 acres of land next adjacent to the waters or shore line of the bay and immediately opposite the city on the west side. This property embraces some of the most commanding and attractive sites in the city, but for years it has remained there unutilized, until the present activity called attention to it. The time is but a few months ago when this land was offered per acre for one half what it now sells for by the lot. The syndicate which Mr Woodruff represents bought and platted it, duly advertised it, and announced that the first who came would be the first served, but that no sales would be made until 10 o'clock on the morning of the 12th of March, when the plat would be ready, the door opened and the sale commenced. No manner of persuasion would induce the Olympia Real Estate and Loan Co., who handled the property, to show favoritism, but the first individual on hand when the hour arrived and the doors opened who had the requisite cash would secure the first choice. In reality all the plat of ground is fine and commanding, and only one half of each block or alternate block would be placed on sale. It was stated that each five days thereafter the prices of the lots would advance, this being the cheapest property, all things considered, on Puget sound. All this [illegible] and advertising only tended to make all [illegible] with means and speculative tendencies the more anxious, besides it attracted the attention of persons who have investigated all Washington territory until an unusual number of buyers arrived here. On Monday morning about 9 o'clock a young gentleman was seen climbing the stairs of the Woodruff block, in one room of which the sale was to be made. An ordinary camp stool [illegible] back of this young gentleman, who quietly proceeded to the immediate proximity of the door and there he planted his chair [illegible] himself and announced that he had come to stay until the sale began. Soon thereafter [illegible] close to the first, and soon [illegible] was lined with chairs [illegible] or their substitutes [illegible] in line, and continued [illegible] for the full twenty four hours [illegible] until the hour of sale arrived. [illegible] Each buyer under [illegible] was permitted to buy twenty [illegible] limit of the number [illegible] first sale. Enough [illegible] hour arrived to take in all [illegible] the anxiety of those buyers [illegible] faith in Olympia [illegible] these [illegible] were some of [illegible] honest money-makers [illegible]. There were buyers from [illegible] Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota [illegible] Portland, Seattle, Tacoma [illegible] Gray's harbor towns were [illegible] numbers of representatives [illegible] dealers or agents in [illegible] also on the ground to assist [illegible] to become purchasers at [illegible] lots commenced [illegible] $1 and the sum of [illegible] occupying the first [illegible] of a front selection of a lot [illegible] each was offered [illegible] one of the three first buyers [illegible] offers were refused. These [illegible] for holding a place [illegible] began. Thus it will be seen [illegible] Olympia was the last to join the [illegible] has eclipsed them all in [illegible] of purchasers on the very [illegible] must be remembered, to be candid [illegible] that there were buyers here [illegible] to buy [illegible] here have been many prior to to-day [illegible] in the past two weeks are heavy buyers of property here, and thus, too, by gentlemen who have traversed all Washington territory [illegible] are staid, conservative men, who are no "tender feet" in booms or authorized land sales, and several of these learned men have bought to hold and improve. Among the [illegible] are four separate buyers from Dakota, each [of] whom, to the certain knowledge of the writer, had spent several weeks in traveling all over the whole territory and Oregon also, and who have bought in Seattle and Tacoma. These four gentlemen, who are in no manner connected as relatives, partners or neighbors, have conjointly bought a tract of [illegible] fifty acres, all of it much less than a mile from the water front, and two of these gentlemen [illegible] good business in Dakota to come here [illegible].

[illegible] for this confidence in Olympia was given by a stranger here on yesterday [illegible]. It was about as follows: [illegible] Olympia is to-day the wealthiest city per capita in the territory. Her assessed valuation with the [illegible] county, and at the lowest known valuation or manner thereof, in the territory [illegible] more wealth than any other [illegible] west of the mountains. Olympia never [illegible] sought and always fought against [illegible]. She has never had any railway on a [illegible] diminutive log pulling meandering [illegible] excuse for a railway running from here to Tenino, [illegible] running in conjunction with anything but the greed desires of its manipulators. Yet the bit of narrow gauge road and narrow gauged management earns more money in proportion to the amount involved than any railway in the territory, hence the complacency of its owners. Olympia is also soon to have railway connection in full form with Gray's harbor, giving the city direct ocean connection with San Francisco and China, the first by 400 miles less travel through less dangerous waters than [illegible] Seattle or Tacoma. The distance to China is [illegible] miles less than via the Straits. Olympia has well settled and developed agricultural country surrounding her, from which farmers are constantly hauling all kinds of produce, from wheat to chickens and eggs and butter, besides raising and selling cattle, horses and sheep. Living is [illegible] better and about one-half cheaper here than at any other point on the Sound. This city has as fine a harbor as any city, and no farther from the [illegible] than at Whatcom or other points. There is more shore line to build upon here than any Sound city. In short, the well settled, established and wealthy population is here, and last, but not least, this is a lovely city in location, and population and society are superior and settled. The capital is here and will stay here, and lots and land are cheaper than at any other point, not excepting localities where nothing yet exists, and property will continue to grow in demand [illegible]. Here then is the cause that influences level headed people to put in money in Olympia.

SOURCE OF WATER SUPPLY

LOCATED IN WHAT WILL BE A PUBLIC PARK [illegible] THE CITY OF OLYMPIA

Within fifteen minutes walk of the postoffice [of] Olympia is located a tract of land originally known as the Moxlie donation claim, but more recently as the Barry place, its direction being to the southeast. This tract of land was one of the first improved farms in this county. It is a level tract of land generally, but on the extreme southern end or side it is broken and rolling. From this southern portion the ground descends at an angle of 45 degrees until it reaches a depth of over 200 feet, where in a little valley large springs pour out their cool waters, constituting the main feeders of Moxlie creek, from which stream is pumped the drinking water that supplies the Olympia Water Works. It is immediately near, or a part of, the Moxlie land that is now so strongly talked of for a public park. It would be a delightful spot for a park, requiring but a small expenditure to transfer it into a [illegible] of beauty. In its natural wild condition it presents plateaus, terraces, and wooded coves, some of the ravines the most lovely little [illegible] could be created. An old logging railroad track traverses this land, which spans a gorge. This gorge was bridged in a primitive way, showing the then valueless condition of timber. The engineer built his continuous span after the style of block or log houses, and the amount of timber used to fill the 175 feet (in length) of bridge would bring a fortune to the man [who] could haul it to the mills. This tract of land is described for the purpose of showing the rapid growth of Olympia. A street car line is among the certainties of the future which will probably run to this proposed new park. Already new houses are springing up all around the Moxlie place. The land itself, or so much thereof as may be left from park purposes, will undoubtedly be platted and converted into places of residence. Here is a tract that has been considered as a farm and no one dreamed that the growth of Olympia would embrace or include this property, yet it has.

In all directions from the city, where desirable land exists, it has been bought by home or non-resident parties and is fast being converted into building premises. Men of means from Seattle and Tacoma have come here and bought up lands, paying good round prices for them. [illegible] buyers are conservative men, some of whom will clear off and beautify their property, holding it for future profit. Everything is here to make a city. Agricultural lands that are cultivated annually, the best of crops. Wheat is grown in great quantities, and thirty five bushels to the acre is the conservative estimate made by farmers. This section has been settled so long that orchards are very frequent, and the fruit itself is so [illegible] and abundant as to have given this country [a] deserved reputation. Apples, pears, plums and peaches grow in profusion. All the small fruits are grown on every farm or garden plat. Vegetables are equally fine and plentiful. Fuel is cheap, coal is abundant and near—the claim being made that it has actually been discovered within the city limits. That it exists in endless quantities near the city is a fact. All the known timber of this western country grows in this county, such as fir, cedar, maple, oak, alder, etc., in abundance. Living is much better here than in newer localities, and it costs less. This is the most "Easternized" city in Washington territory.

At Tumwater, less than two miles from the postoffice, there is water power the equal of any, that is all ready for use and has been utilized for years. Iron ore, magnetic hematite and bog iron are found in superabundance in nearly all directions. The bog iron ore has been tested by the Irondale furnaces and declared the equal of any. Here then are the resources for manufacturing, plenty of water power, coal, iron and timber of all kinds. What can prevent the ultimate use of these valued resources? Why should not Olympia prove the Lowell of Washington territory?

It would be folly to suppose that such all these resources, costing so little to develop, will long remain dormant. It is easy to understand why they have not ere this been called into requisition. The territory, aside from a few counties on the Sound, is new. It is a new country that awaits immigration, but now, that all Washington territory is generally occupied, the men and money coming in are seeking permanent location. Olympia, in its long silence, not heretofore seeking notoriety, has been wise. She has understood that haste would avail naught. Now that the surroundings are ripe for the location of factories in Washington, this city has wisely concluded to invite outside capital, and the future will prove the wisdom of the concentration here of all kinds of manufacturing. One railway outlet now exists. The certainty of a railway to Gray's Harbor, about forty to fifty miles—gives this city an ocean outlet 400 miles nearer San Francisco than the present route by the Sound. The company of the Port Townsend & Southern railway will include this city beyond a doubt, and this will give it direct railway communication with Port Townsend. All this adds to the desirability of the location for manufacturing interests.

Here there is a splendid field for any kind of establishment. A tannery and boot and shoe factory would prove a real bonanza to its owners. There is abundance of the required bark for tanning, an empire for the manufacture [illegible], a cattle range with hundreds of thousands of cattle in the territory to furnish the hides.

The same applies equally well for a woolen mill. The wool clip of this territory would supply [illegible] having ten thousand setts. The market [illegible] here now for woolens of home [illegible] are worn [illegible]. A fruit and vegetable cannery would [illegible] both raw material and [illegible] the products are in this [illegible]. [illegible] will be a [illegible] of Olympia or the [illegible] [illegible] city [illegible] profitable [illegible] propose [illegible] of home [illegible].

THE WORD [illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN.

THE OREGONIAN has lately been defining and explaining what was [illegible] what American in origin. There is one [illegible] not quite come under the term of [illegible] American in origin and so [illegible] meaning that it seems almost a [illegible]. It is the word "prospect." [illegible] first came to this coast with the miners [illegible] is quite respectable in age. In its general individual meaning it is so absolutely perfect, applicable to all conditions of life that [illegible] does not furnish another word that equals [it in] any degree. "Oh well I'm just [illegible]" and is a familiar expression, but [when] we consider the purpose of the man, [and the] range of the expression in its adaptability, it is absolutely perfect. When talking [illegible] come with his meaning [illegible] to have a durable and American [illegible].

Edwin Forrest's Secret.

The great tragedian, Forrest, had a [illegible] everybody ought to learn and profit by. "I owe all my success to the fact that [illegible] I have undertaken I have done the [illegible] trifles." That's the [illegible]. Don't neglect the hacking [illegible] night sweats that feeble and [illegible] appetite and the other symptoms, trifling [illegible] but awful in their significance. For [illegible] the approach of consumption [illegible] danger, but you can be saved. are four separate buyers from Dakota, each of whom to the certain knowledge of the writer, has spent several weeks in traveling all over the whole territory and Oregon also, and who have bought in Seattle and Tacoma. These four gentlemen, who are in no manner connected as relatives, partners or neighbors, have conjointly bought a total of near fifty acres all of it much less than a mile from the water front and two of these gentlemen abandon a good business in Dakota to come here eventually

The reason for this confidence in Olympia was explained by a stranger here on yesterday who has also bought here It was about as follows "Olympia is to day the wealthiest city per capita in the territory Her assessed valuation with that of Thurston county and at the lowest known valuation or manner thereof, in the territory, gives this section more wealth than any other east or west of the mountains Olympia never has had has never sought and always fought against a boom She has never had any railway outlet, save the diminutive log pulling meandering some excuse for a railway running from here to Tenino and never running in conjunction with anything but the placid desires of its manipulators. And yet the bit of narrow gauge road and narrow gauged management earns more money in proportion to the amount involved than any railway in the territory hence the complacency of its few owners Olympia is also soon to have railway connection in full form with Gray's harbor, thus giving the city direct ocean connection with San Francisco and China the first by 400 miles less travel through less dangerous waters than either Seattle or Tacoma The distance to China is 150 miles less than via the Straits Olympia has a well settled and developed agricultural country surrounding her from which farmers are daily hauling all kinds of produce from wheat to chickens and eggs and butter besides raising and selling cattle, horses and sheep Living is much better, and about one-half cheaper here than any other point on the Sound This city has as fine a harbor as any city and no farther from the city than at Whatcom or other points. There is more shore line to build upon here than any Sound city In short, the well settled established and well to-do population is here; and last, but not least, this is a lovely city in location and population and society are superior and settled. The capital is here and will stay here and lots and land are cheaper than at any other point, not excepting localities where nothing yet exists and this property will continue to grow in demand from this on Here then is the cause that influences level headed people to put in money in Olympia.

SOURCE OF WATER SUPPLY

LOCATED IN WHAT WILL BE A PUBLIC PARK OF THE CITY OF OLYMPIA

Within fifteen minutes walk of the postoffice in Olympia is located a tract of land originally known as the Moxlie donation claim but more recently as the Barry place its direction being to the southeast This tract of land was one of the first improved farms in this county It is a fine level tract of land generally but on the extreme southern end or side it is broken and rough. From this southern portion the ground decends at an angle of 45 degrees until it reaches a decent or depth of over 200 feet, where in a little valley two large springs pour out their cool waters constituting the main feeders of Moxlie creek from which stream is pumped the drinking water that supplies the Olympia Water Works It is immediately near or a part of the Moxlie land that is now so strongly talked of for a public park It would be a delightful spot for a park requiring but a small expenditure to transfer it into a place of beauty In its natural wild condition it presents plateaus terraces and wooded coves In some of the ravines the most lovely little lakes could be created An old logging railroad track traverses this land which spans a deep gorge This gorge was bridged in a primitive way showing the then valueless condition of timber The engineer built his continuous span after the style of block or log houses and the amount of timber used to fill the 175 feet (in highth) of bridge would bring a fortune to the man who could haul it to the mills This tract of land is described for the purpose of showing the promised growth of Olympia A street car line is among the certainties of the future which will probably run to this proposed new park Already new houses are springing up all around this Moxlie place The land itself or so much thereof as may be left from park purposes will undoubtedly be platted and converted into places of residence It is a tract that has been considered as a farm and no one dreamed that the growth of Olympia would embrace or include this property yet it has

In all directions from the city where desirable land exists it has been bought by home or non resident parties and is fast being converted into building premises Men of means from Seattle and Tacoma have come here and bought up these lands paying good round prices for them These buyers are conservative men some of whom will clear off and beautify their property holding it for future profit Everything is here to make a city Agricultural lands that are cultivated yield annually the best of crops Wheat is grown here in great quantities and thirty five bushels per acre is the conservative estimate made by farmers. This section has been settled so long that orchards are very frequent and the fruit itself is so superior and abundant as to have given this country a deserved reputation Apples, pears, plums and peaches grow in profusion All the smaller fruits are grown on every farm or garden plat. Vegetables are equally fine and plentiful Fuel is cheap coal is abundant and near—the claim being made that it has actually been discovered within the city limits That it exists in endless quantities near the city is a fact All the known timber of this western country grows in this county There are fir cedar maple oak, alder etc, in abundance. Living is much better here than in newer localities and it costs less This is the most Easternized city in Washington territory

At Tumwater less than two miles from the post office there is water power the equal of any It is all ready for use and has been utilized for years Iron ore magnetic hematite and bog ore is found in superabundance in nearly all directions. The bog iron ore has been tested by the Irondale furnaces and declared the equal of any Here then are the resources for manufacturing—plenty of water power, coal, iron and timber of all kinds. What can prevent the ultimate use of these valued resources? Why should not Olympia prove the Lowell of Washington territory?

It would be folly to suppose that such abundant resources, costing so little to develop will forever remain dormant. It is easy to understand why they have not ere this been called into requisition. The territory, aside from a few counties on the Sound, is new It is a new country that attracts immigration but now that all Washington territory is generally occupied, the men and capital coming in are seeking permanent locations. Olympia, in its long silence, not heretofore seeking notoriety has been wise. She has understood that haste would avail naught. Now that surroundings are ripe for the location of factories in Washington this city has wisely concluded to invite outside capital and the future will prove the wisdom of the concentration here of all kinds of manufacturing One railway outlet now exists The certainty of a railway to Gray's Harbor—only about forty to fifty miles—gives this city an ocean outlet 400 miles nearer San Francisco than the present route by the Sound The completion of the Port Townsend & Southern railway will include this city beyond a doubt and this will give it direct railway communication with Portland All this adds to the desirability of the location for manufacturing interests

Here there is a splendid field for any line The establishment of a tannery and boot and shoe factory would prove a real bonanza to its owners There is abundance of the required bark for tanning, an empire for the manufactured shoes and a cattle range with hundreds of thousands of cattle in the territory to furnish the hides.

The same applies equally well for a woolen mill The wool clip of this territory would supply mills having ten thousand setts The market for the product is now for woolens of about the same [illegible] worn the whole year round. A fruit and vegetable cannery would find a good [illegible] as both raw material and market [illegible] goods are in this section

It would be [illegible] the needs of [illegible] the enterprises that could [illegible] Apparent [illegible] to interest what will pay [illegible] Remember [illegible] towns this city would be [illegible] for she has [illegible] practical knowledge [illegible] money to [illegible] any other one city [illegible] found [illegible] of home [illegible]

THE WORD PROSPECTING

PORTLAND [illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

THE OREGONIAN has lately been discussing dialect and explaining what was implied by what Americanism. There is one word that does not quite come under the term dialect so thoroughly American in origin and so perfect in meaning, that it seems almost a sin to have it overlooked. It is the word "prospecting." It first came to the coast with the miners of '49 so it is quite respectable in age. In its general or individual meaning it is so absolutely perfect and applicable to all conditions of life that Webster does not furnish another word that equals it in any degree. "Oh well I'm just prospecting round" is a familiar expression but whether we consider the purpose of the man the wide range of the expression or its adaptation to both it is absolutely perfect. When talking of dialect or what has come within its meaning it is a sin to leave so admirable an American sin as this unnoticed OLD PROSPECTOR.

Edwin Forrest's Secret.

The great tragedian Forrest had a secret which everybody ought to learn and profit by. Said he: "I owe all my success to the fact that everything I have undertaken I have done thoroughly I never neglect trifles. That's the point—don't neglect trifles Don't neglect that hacking cough those night sweats, that feeble and capricious appetite and the other symptoms, trifling in themselves but awful in their significance. They herald the approach of consumption You are in danger but you can be saved Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will restore you to health and vigor as it has thousands of others For all scrofulous diseases and consumption is one of them it is a sovereign remedy

SAN FRANCISCO MARKET REVIEW

NEW YORK, March 25—The banking institutions generally adhered to 3 per cent as the rate on call last week but in the board most of the business was done at 2 and 2½ per cent, with exceptions at 1½ per cent There are those who still hold to the theory that the first of April will bring with it a flurry and they paid 4 per cent for thirty days but otherwise time contracts were easy and the supply for long dates was in excess of the demand

Exchange on New York at Chicago was 60 to 70 per cent. discount the latter part of the week and the West still drew currency from this point, but the drain was not so heavy as of late and the influx from some other sections was on the increase and the discount market if anything was a little easier

There is a good outlook for general trade The weather is favorable for interior shipments

Wheat would move abroad but that it is under and is paralyzed by speculative complications

MARK LANE REVIEW

LONDON March 25—The Mark Lane Express says Despite the stormiest equinox in years the weather has been propitious for tillage Although the estimated supplies of bread stuffs for the past week were from 80 000 to 100 000 quarters below the wants of the consumers, the tone of trade for English wheat was not improved Indiscreet and heavy threshings of wheat already wanting in condition during the rainy periods of February and the early part of March have inundated many local exchanges with grain which the millers find cannot be used until it is mixed with drier and stronger foreign grain

Foreign wheat has fluctuated prices declined 6d and then advanced 7d for California Good Russian wheat is steadier but there were large offerings of inferior quality and a decline was frequently allowed in order to clear up the stock Indian wheat is firmer The new crop is not expected to equal that of 1888.

My wife was troubled very severely with Neuralgia. I had tried doctors and every kind of medicine and she found no relief was recommended to try Ath-lo-pho-ros. The first dose relieved her and in using less than half a bottle was completely cured. I would not be without Ath-lo-pho-ros in my house and can cheerfully recommend it to any one suffering with Neuralgia.

Very truly yours,

The "Pocket" in this Age and Generation is the Avenue to the Man,

AND THE LOCALITY, TOWN OR CITY THAT WILL HELP

FILL THAT POCKET

Is the One the Masses Are Looking For.

You may bedeck nature's handiwork with the most gorgeous effort of art and place it all in the midst of any VILLAGE, TOWN or CITY in America, yet if that place offers no opportunity for money making it will entice no one unless it be those whose fortunes are made. It makes no difference to mankind in America whether a city is old or young, rich or poor, small or large, enterprising or inactive, if they are not residents thereof. But it makes a world of difference to outsiders if that same city offers a chance for speedy money making.

There are to-day probably five thousand men representing as many millions in dollars as there are men who are visiting all the various towns and cities in

WASHINGTON TERRITORY AND OREGON,

WHO ARE EITHER SEEKING A NEW HOME OR A PLACE FOR INVESTMENT.

Many of these visitors will arrive at a town, put up at the hotels, look around the town, price the very best piece of property in the town they visit and then go away declaring that prices are too high. It is probable that the very choicest property offering immediate returns could be found in this identical town if these visitors had extended their investigations. It is not the largest cities where prices for real estate rule highest in which the best money is made. If you could strike a town where the population is established, where business is likewise, where the per capita wealth is the greatest in the state or territory in which it exists, where manufactories exist, and all needed requirements in resources, fuel and water power is abundant, where beauty of location is unexcelled, where prices of real estate are lower proportionally than elsewhere, and where the said town is at

[illegible]

AND IN DAILY ARRIVALS,

Also where the transfers in real estate three months ago were about three per week against twenty-five per day now, would it not suggest that this would be the town in which money could be made rapidly? Supposing such a town had never sought a boom, yet that boom came and thrust itself upon its people, and that it brought with it a doubled business and an increased population per month of about five per cent. of its original population, which population commenced at about 2500, and now, at this early stage of its activity, has about 3200 inhabitants and still increasing, would not that town be a splendid town to invest money in?

THERE IS AN ABUNDANCE OF

Bog Iron Ore

Near the city, and we can sell at low figures, too, land containing the IRON ORE, which is not over two miles from this city It is the same kind of ore which is now producing the finest pig iron known in the San Francisco market In a distance of from 5 to 15 miles of this city there is an abundance of both Hematite and Magnetic Iron Ore, with copper ore also, and the choicest of lime stone in abundance near Olympia A splendid stone quarry opened near here Magnificent coal fields, now developed, are not far distant All the material resources known to man are here is abundance, which clearly indicates the future possibilities in manufacturing

Here then is the place to buy property and to buy it with a certainty of its rapid advancement in value. We can give you the practical evidence of the fact in actual sales. Our Mr. S. C Woodruff purchased 157 acres of land immediately on the west side of the bay and not over three quarters of a mile from the postoffice. It is the most commanding property in Olympia, overlooking as it does the entire city, the bay, woodland and mountains. Its drainage is perfect Its water front will be the railway avenue of this city.

The property was duly platted, advertised a few days at home and the announcement was made that at 10 o'clock A M., on the twelfth day of March, the plat of this property would be shown and one half of each block offered for sale Lots were offered at from $100 to $175 (one hundred to one hundred and seventy-five dollars) each, that the first buyer on hand with the cash should have the first choice, but that no buyer should buy over twenty lots each. Every effort was made to secure lots before the day of sale, but to no purpose.

On Monday morning early buyers commenced taking their places in line in the hallway in front of the office door These buyers held their places for over twenty five hours ahead of the sale, holding to their places all through the night The buyer occupying the very first chair was offered five hundred dollars to surrender his place in line, but refused it. Other buyers were offered the sum of one hundred dollars bonus for the choice of a first selection of their respective purchases, but refused this offer also There were buyers enough in line to take all the lots offered for sale on the day of sale, which embraced about half the lots of the addition

THERE IS ONE SUCH TOWN

Which More Properly Termed is the City of

OLYMPIA

—THE—

County Seat

—OF—

THURSTON COUNTY,

—THE—

CAPITAL

—OF—

Washington Territory,

SITUATED ON A BAY AT

The Head of Navigation on Puget Sound.

A City surrounded with the very finest of timber, which has turned out fifteen million feet of lumber as the output of Thurston county sawmills in the year 1888—the amount in 1889 to exceed these figures. This city is the distributing point of a very large scope of country. There is an abundance of water power in and around the city. Its streets at the accustomed period of the year are filled with farmers' wagons bringing in wheat, oats, barley, hay, vegetables, fruit (and all kinds raised in this section), which are raised on the many cultivated farms of the county. The premium wheat of Washington territory as awarded at the Centennial was raised in this (Thurston) county. The raising of strawberries alone would pay handsomely. A piece of land SIXTY FEET SQUARE RAISED OVER ONE TON OF STRAWBERRIES in this county, which cleared its owner ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY DOLLARS. There can be no finer fruit lands than here, nor a more congenial or better clime for their cultivation and growth. This city has a water way through Puget Sound, the finest inland sea in the world, and which flows into the great Pacific ocean, giving the city and the farms in this county the markets of the world. Olympia has a railway outlet, and this narrow gauge railway earns more money in proportion to the amount involved than any railway in Washington Territory.

THE OTHER HALF OF THE

ADDITION

WILL BE SOON ON SALE BY US, AND AMONG THEM

Are some of the choicest lots in the addition The prices of these lots were immediately raised by the buyers themselves, while we consented to the sale of the other half of one block to accommodate those who wanted the front and rear lots of this block to immediately improve with good buildings A great deal of this property bought will be improved speedily by the erection of good homes The best of the first lots we sold brought one hundred and seventy five dollars. We got two hundred and seventy-five dollars per lot for the one half block sold as stated. Many of the lots sold to first buyers on the day of sale were resold the very same day and not one of them reported as bringing less than one hundred dollars advance, while the highest brought six hundred and seventy-five dollars. There are just as good lots for sale by us now, the prices of which will admit of an immediate profit. Our aim has been to so sell that buyers could make a good profit We are handling more property and the best property than any real estate dealers in Olympia We are old residents, have large property interests here and are well and favorably known to local business men and bank We claim to handle and have for sale the very cheapest and best paying property on Puget Sound We have the very lowest price business property in Olympia or in the northwest. We have property that will pay from 15 to 20 per cent on investment following improvement and that investment permanent, and the only reason it remains unsold is that capital here can make more money speculating in real estate We are permanent fixtures here and will remain, and we are devoting our time to the exclusion of all other business in building up a large real estate and investment business in Olympia and in this portion of Puget Sound We loan money and can place large amounts on the most gilt edge security We handle farm lands and all classes of good property, making good addition property a specialty, our Woodruff addition, so very near the main business portion of Olympia, the one above referred to, and in which are the remaining unsold lots, which will double in value rapidly. This addition property is cheaper per lot than some Washington Territory property is per foot, and in five years from now these same Woodruff addition lots will be worth more per foot than the above referred to Washington Territory property now selling per foot is then worth by lot.
